

Welcome to George Fox University School of Education Accreditation Website

Welcome to George Fox University School of Education! We are thankful for your willingness to participate in our upcoming accreditation visit. This website provides evidence of the accomplishments of our candidates, faculty, and staff in relation to the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC) program approval standards and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) standards.

The School of Education is in the business of *preparing and supporting professionals who think critically, transform practice, and promote justice. Our candidates model best practices in their respective fields and have a firm mastery of state and national standards.

On this website and in our print exhibits, you will find evidence of how our candidates are collaborating with the community and P-12 schools, as well as their positive impact on student learning. Candidate examples of key assessments and their accompanying evaluations can be found in the print exhibits.

If at any time, you have difficulty locating a document, feel free request the information needed. We will be happy to assist you.

Sincerely,

Karen S. Buchanan, Ed.D.
NCATE Coordinator
