

Jenny Song, PhD

Adjunct Faculty

Email: jsong@georgefox.edu

Overview

After earning my Master of Engineering in China and working in the field of IT for 14 years, I came to the United States to pursue a Master of Divinity from George Fox University. After completing my second Master's degree, I earned a PhD in Leadership Studies from Gonzaga University. Through this process, I have discovered that I have a passion for both effective leadership and academic work.

During my career in China, I served as the operations director of Dalian Port Logistics Technology Co., Ltd. and managed the Operation Service Center and Marketing Department for seven years. I obtained a Project Management Professional certification and an IT Service Management certification and worked as a project manager for more than 10 years. During my graduate study at George Fox University, I worked as teaching assistant for Dr. MaryKate Morse, teaching and tutoring graduate students in New Testament Greek. I have been active in ministry to international students and visiting scholars at George Fox University since 2013. I graduated from George Fox University and received the Dean's Award for "superior academic achievement, exemplary Christian character and extraordinary potential for service as a Christian scholar." At Gonzaga University, I worked with Dr. Chris Francovich as a data analyst for National Science Foundation's ADVANCE project. Also I am currently serving as associate editor with Dr. Shann Ray Ferch and Larry Spears for The International Journal of Servant-Leadership.

Academic Background

PhD, Leadership Studies, Gonzaga University

MDiv, George Fox University

ME, Transportation Planning and Management, Dalian Maritime University, China

BS, Communication Engineering, Dalian Maritime University, China

Expertise and Interests

Leaders can have a negative impact on organizations when they knowingly or unknowingly attempt to save face, that is, try to protect their standing or reputation. My current research interest is to study face and face management and build a theoretical model for face management and servant-leadership. The significance of my research focus is to address a deficit in the literature concerning face in organizations, to add to the understanding of the concept of face and the dynamics of face management, and ultimately to support the development of healthy organizations in both China and the United States through scholarship.

Select Research Bibliography

Song, J., Tran, D., Ferch, S. R., & Spears, L. C. (Eds.). (2019). Servant-leadership and forgiveness. SUNY. Book proposal accepted.

Song, J., & Ferch, S. R. (2019). Introduction: The forgiveness ethos of servant-leadership. In Servant-leadership and forgiveness. SUNY. Book proposal accepted.

Song, J. (2019). Awareness, healing, and forgiveness: Servant-leaders help heal the heart of the world. In Servant-leadership and forgiveness. SUNY. Book proposal accepted.

Tran, D., Song, J., Ferch, S. R., & Spears, L. C. (Eds.). Servant-leadership and film. SUNY. In the process of book proposal.

Song, J. (2018). Understanding face and shame: A servant-leadership and face management model. Journal of Pastoral Care and Counseling (peer-reviewed journal). In the process of publication.

Song, J., & Ferch, S. R. (2018). The qualitative essence of servant-leadership. In Inspiration for servant-leaders. Greenleaf Center for Servant Leadership. In the process of publication.

Song, J. (2018). For the beauty of the earth: Serving others through being fully present. The International Journal of Servant-Leadership, 12(1), 27-31. (peer-reviewed journal)

Song, J. (2018). Leading through awareness and healing: A servant-leadership model. The International Journal of Servant-Leadership, 12(1), 245-284. (peer-reviewed journal)

Song, J. (2018). Face management and servant-leadership: A hermeneutic phenomenological study of Chinese and American Christian church leaders (Doctoral dissertation, Gonzaga University).

Song, J. (2018). What is face anyway? The International Journal of Interdisciplinary Cultural Studies, 12(4), 21-32. doi:10.18848/2327-008X/CGP/v12i04/21-32

Song, J. (2017). How to handle face-saving through servant-leadership. The International Journal of Servant-Leadership, 11(1), 307-334.

Song, J. (2016). An evaluation of the house church movement and the three-self patriotic movement in China (Master's thesis, George Fox University). Retrieved from http://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/seminary\_masters/

Li, X., Song, J., Pang, D., Fan, H., & Zhang, Y. (2009). The analysis of the present situation and the research of the future development on the information technology construction of domestic port logistics. China Logistics Academy Frontier Report.

Song, J. (2008). Research on application of RFID in smart gate of container terminal (Master's thesis, Dalian Maritime University).

Song, J., Fan, H., Pang, D., Zhang, Y., & Li, X. (2008). The solution of linkage between the customs and ports in the container terminal's gate based on RFID technology. Radio Frequency Identification Technologies and Applications, (5).

Song, J. (2007a). Risk management in the whole process of project. Project Manager Union.

Song, J. (2007b). Successful project begins with team building. Project Manager Union.

Primary Teaching Responsibilities

MPJM 418 Introduction to Project Management
MPJM 444 Advanced Project Management
MPJM 412 Waterfall Project Management Method
MPJM 424 Project Risk Management
SFAD 530 Christian Prayer in Global Context

Outside the Classroom

In my free time, I enjoy walking in nature, praying as I go. Sometimes my daughter and I play board games and she always wins. As the associate editor of The International Journal of Servant-Leadership, I enjoy reading servant-leadership studies and essays from all over the world.