President's Message

At George Fox, learning is our central activity. You will be encouraged here to pursue activities that facilitate your learning process. You also will be helped to define and achieve your goals and calling.

Our goal is to help all students find coherence in their learning. We are part of a society that encourages fragmentation in our lives. At George Fox, we believe the person and work of Jesus Christ is a powerful and effective integrating factor. All aspects of the university work together to bring coherence to Christian faith and learning. Our faculty, staff, and administrators are committed to this. They are ready to be your friends, teachers, role models, and mentors.

George Fox provides strong academic programs that include opportunities for experiential learning, internships, practica, and cocurricular activities that give opportunity for leadership and skill development.

George Fox University is committed to pursuing high quality in all its programs. The quality of a George Fox education is validated in several ways by those outside the university:

- U.S. News and World Report for 17 years has named George Fox as an outstanding university, ranked in the top tier in its category as "One of America's Best Colleges."
- George Fox is one of 20 colleges and universities in the United States named to receive double honors by the John Templeton Foundation: The university is one of 100 selected for its Honor Roll for Character-Building Colleges, and the president is one of 50 recognized for outstanding presidential leadership.
- Former U.S. Senator Mark Hatfield, George Fox's Herbert Hoover Distinguished Professor, says there's a special character about George Fox. "You know there is something different about this university the moment you walk on this campus. The atmosphere is in sharp contrast to the many factory-like, decentralized, impersonal schools."

George Fox is an exciting place with new programs and campus expansion under way to serve our students even better. I encourage you to consider whether George Fox University is where God is directing you to continue your learning.

H. David Brandt, President
George Fox University

University Profile

Mission and Objectives

The mission of the university from its beginning has been to demonstrate the meaning of Jesus Christ by offering a caring educational community in which each individual may achieve the highest intellectual and personal growth, and by participating responsibly in our world's concerns. The foregoing mission statement of George Fox University is detailed in the following institutional objectives:

1. Teach all truth as God's truth, integrating all fields of learning around the person and work of Jesus Christ, bringing the divine revelations through sense, reason, and intuition to the confirming test of Scripture.
2. Support academic programs that liberate the student for a life of purpose and fulfillment through an awareness of the resources of knowledge and culture available; maximize career-oriented education through counseling, curriculum, field experience, and placement.
3. Maintain a program of varied activities that directs the student to a commitment to Christ as Lord and Savior, encourages attitudes of reverence and devotion toward God, leads to recognition that the revealed commandments of God are the supreme criteria of the good life, enables the student to mirror the example of Christ in human relationships, and develops a greater desire to serve humanity in a spirit of Christian love.
4. Provide a center for Quaker leadership where faculty and students learn the history and Christian doctrines of the Friends movement and make contemporary applications of these insights.
5. Give leadership to evangelical Christianity generally, through scholarly publication, lecturing, and by evangelistic and prophetic proclamation and service.
6. Promote cocurricular activities that will emphasize the development of leadership, initiative, and teamwork by giving opportunity to make practical use of the skills and ideas acquired through academic courses.
7. Make itself a community in which studies and activities are made relevant to life, develop insight into social and political issues confronting humanity, and learn to participate democratically in decision making and policy implementation as responsible citizens.
8. Serve as a cultural center for all publics of the university, and sponsor programs that are informative and culturally stimulating to the larger university community.
9. Provide distinctive learning opportunities through continuing education programs and through curriculum enhancements such as off-campus centers, study abroad, honors programs, and other special programs and events.
10. Cultivate awareness, respect, understanding, and appreciation of cultural diversity throughout the university community to provide members of diverse races and cultures an affirming environment that encourages cross-cultural sharing in the context of Christian lifestyle expectations.

Statement of Faith

The Trinity

We believe in one eternal God, the source and goal of life, who exists as three persons in the Trinity: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. In love and joy, God creates and sustains the universe, including humanity, male and female, who are made in God's image.

God the Father

We believe in God the Father Almighty, whose love is the foundation of salvation and righteous judgment, and who calls us into covenant relationship with God and with one another.

God the Son

We believe in Jesus Christ, the Word, who is fully God and fully human. He came to show us God and perfect humanity, and, through his life, death, and resurrection, to reconcile us to God. He is now actively present with us as Savior, Teacher, Lord, Healer, and Friend.

God the Holy Spirit

We believe in the Holy Spirit, who breathed God's message into the prophets and apostles, opens our eyes to God's Truth in Jesus Christ, empowers us for holy living, and carries on in us the work of salvation.

Salvation

We believe that salvation comes through Jesus Christ alone, to whom we must respond with repentance, faith, and obedience. Through Christ we come into a right relationship with God, our sins are forgiven, and we receive eternal life.

The Bible

We believe that God inspired the Bible and has given it to us as the uniquely authoritative, written guide for Christian living and thinking. As illumined by the Holy Spirit, the Scriptures are true and reliable. They point us to God, guide our lives, and nurture us toward spiritual maturity.

The Christian Life

We believe that God has called us to be and to make disciples of Jesus Christ and to be God's agents of love and reconciliation in the world. In keeping with the teaching of Jesus, we work to oppose violence and war, and we seek peace and justice in human relationships and social structures.

The Church

We believe in the church as the people of God, composed of all who believe in Jesus Christ, who support and equip each other through worship, teaching, and accountability, who model God's loving community, and who proclaim the gospel to the world.

Christian Worship

We believe Christ is present as we gather in his name, seeking to worship in spirit and in truth. All believers are joined in the one body of Christ, are baptized by the Spirit, and live in Christ's abiding presence. Christian baptism and communion are spiritual realities, and, as Christians from many faith traditions, we celebrate these in different ways.

The Future

We believe in the personal return of Jesus Christ, in the resurrection of the dead, in God's judgment of all persons with perfect justice and mercy, and in eternal reward and punishment. Ultimately, Christ's kingdom will be victorious over all evil, and the faithful will reign with him in eternal life.

Values Statement

The George Fox University community values...

- Following Christ, the Center of Truth
- Honoring the worth, dignity, and potential of the individual
- Developing the whole person—spirit, mind, and body
- Living and learning in a Christ-centered community
- Pursuing integrity over image
- Achieving academic excellence in the liberal arts
- Preparing every person to serve Christ in the world
- Preserving our Friends (Quaker) heritage

Student Outcomes

In any enterprise involving students of varied preparedness, motivation, and discipline, there will be differences in outcomes. Education is realistic and idealistic. It reaches beyond the average, the assured, and the guaranteed. University objectives, indeed the entire catalog, may be seen as sincere intention to provide an educational program of high quality. Accountability to students is fulfilled by providing qualified teachers, a community with Christian values, and the historical continuity of a Quaker university. The opportunity for personal growth and development is here, yet student initiative and responsibility are vital. The catalog is not an unconditional contract.

Place

George Fox University serves students at a number of locations in the Pacific Northwest, including its Portland Center, Salem Center, Boise (Idaho) Center, and teaching sites in Eugene and other Oregon communities. Its residential undergraduate campus is in Newberg, Ore., in the lower Willamette Valley, on a 77-acre tree-shaded campus in a residential neighborhood. This area offers a variety to meet most interests: a friendly community close (23 miles) to a major metropolitan environment of 1.7 million people, located in the beauty of the Pacific Northwest, with nearby mountain ranges for skiing and easy access to rugged coastal beaches just an hour away.

Oregon — 97,060 square miles of variety — stretches from the Pacific Coast, over the Coast Range, through the fertile Willamette Valley, past the snowcapped Cascades, and into the high desert country of central and eastern Oregon. More than half of the student body call Oregon home. Others come to school in Oregon and decide to make it their new home — despite the fabled rain. Yes, there is rain, and sometimes it falls hard in the valley between the mountain ranges where George Fox University is located. But it is the rain that makes Oregon green and gives it natural beauty. Umbrellas and raincoats do come in handy during the winter months, but when the sun comes out, Oregon is spectacular, and it's worth the wait. Just ask the visitors who make tourism one of the state's largest industries, along with high technology, agriculture, and forest products.

Just a half-hour drive from the campus, metropolitan Portland is George Fox's big-city neighbor. In 2000, Portland topped Money magazine's list of "Best Places to Live in the U.S." Oregon's largest city, Portland offers students, faculty, and staff its Old Town district, a downtown transit mall, the Tom McCall Waterfront Park, numerous art galleries and museums, a number of theatre groups and jazz clubs, and a world-class symphony, ballet, and opera. Other attractions include the Oregon Zoo, the Japanese Garden, the International Rose Test Gardens, and OMSI (the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry). Every June the city holds its Rose Festival, with three parades, a coronation, and 25 days of other events.

For those who love the outdoors, Portland has 9,400 acres of parks, including Mill Ends Park, the smallest in the world, and Forest Park, named the "Best Urban Park in the U.S." And George Fox students can join in the enthusiasm of cheering for the Portland Trail Blazers NBA team, the Portland Winter Hawks WHL ice hockey squad, and the Portland Beavers Triple-A minor league baseball team.

Despite the numerous Portland advantages, many students prefer the small-town flavor of Newberg. Located on the Willamette River, Newberg has a population of 19,900, with many residents living in Newberg and commuting to Portland for their jobs. Downtown Newberg consists of a variety of stores, shops, and services. Friendly merchants who appreciate the university's students are just a few blocks south of the campus, with most businesses within walking distance. It's a personable town, rich in tradition — former President Herbert Hoover once lived here.

The Newberg-Portland area has a mean daily high temperature in July of 83 F and a mean daily low in January of 32 F. Precipitation averages 37 inches a year, most of which is rain. While Newberg does get snow, it is seldom more than a few inches a year and rarely lasts more than a couple of days.

Our Heritage

More than a century ago, early Oregon Quaker pioneers helped settle the rich and fruitful Chehalem Valley of Oregon. One of their first priorities, along with the founding of their church, was the education of their children. In 1885 the Christian instruction of their offspring was assured with the establishment of Friends Pacific Academy. At the same time, founding pioneers were looking ahead with a dream of a college to provide further and more advanced education. That time came September 9, 1891, with the opening of the doors of Pacific College. Fifteen students were counted on opening day.

In the 114 years since George Fox University's founding, there have been major changes, of course, including the name of the university itself, changed in 1949 because of the many "Pacific" colleges and retitled in honor of the founder of the Friends Church. The name changed again in July 1996 when George Fox College became George Fox University, incorporating Western Evangelical Seminary with 300 students on a campus in Tigard, Ore.

From only a handful of courses in the 1890s, the university now offers more than 35 undergraduate majors and graduate programs in psychology, counseling, education, business, ministry, and religion. In all, more than 16,000 students over the years have called this institution their alma mater.

George Fox has grown rapidly in the last two decades — both in reputation and facilities. U.S. News & World Report for 17 years has named George Fox "one of America's Best Colleges." In 2004, George Fox ranked in the top tier in the category of Best Universities — Master's, West Region. It also was selected in the "Great Schools at Great Prices" category. National recognition also has come from the John Templeton Foundation, which selected George Fox as one of 100 in its Honor Roll of Character Building Colleges.

Following a campus master plan, George Fox has expanded to 77 acres in recent years. A $16 million Centennial Campaign funded a new science building and restoration of Wood-Mar Auditorium, opened in 1995. A $22 million Legacy Campaign funded the $7 million Stevens Center, opened in 2001. Nearly 3,000 students come to George Fox from across the nation to participate in the experience of sharing faith and learning with dedicated faculty and administrators.

Depending on the program, graduate students attend classes either on the Newberg campus, the Portland Center, the Boise Center, the Salem Center, or at one of the university's teaching sites in Eugene and other Oregon communities. Off-campus teaching sites are also the location of classes offered through the George Fox degree-completion program for working adults.

The Christian atmosphere is a university priority. With other Christians, the university holds to the historic truths and teachings of Christianity, as outlined in the statement of faith. From its founding, the university has been guided by Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church. It historically has emphasized the necessity of a genuinely experiential Christian faith, personal integrity and purity, the spiritual nature of the ordinances, the importance of peacemaking and responsible social action, the involvement of women in ministry and leadership, the valuing of simplicity, and the right and duty of each person to hear and follow God's call.

George Fox University has more Friends students on our campuses than any other college in the United States. They represent approximately 7 percent of the student body. Altogether, more than 50 denominations are represented on campus. Denominations with a significant enrollment include the Evangelical Church of North America, Free Methodist, Nazarene, Presbyterian, Disciples of Christ, Mennonite,

United Methodist, Assemblies of God, Christian and Missionary Alliance, Catholic, Lutheran, American Baptist, Conservative Baptist, Church of God, and Foursquare. There are also numerous students who attend independent churches.

The Academic Resource Center

The Academic Resource Center, housed in the student life area on the third floor of the Stevens Center (Newberg campus), consists of three branches: the Writing Center, Learning Enhancement, and Tutoring Services. Although the primary focus is on undergraduate students, all members of the George Fox community, including graduate students, are welcome to use the center's services. In the past, the Writing Center and Learning Enhancement have been utilized by graduate students.

Academic consultants in the Writing Center provide guidance and feedback for students engaged in the writing process. Academic consultants are students from various majors who have strong writing skills in their disciplines. Students meet individually with a consultant to work through assignments, application essays, or other projects. The focus of each session is on the process of creating sound written work.

The Learning Enhancement component of the center offers workshops and individual advising on topics such as:

- Reading strategies
- Note-taking skills
- Exam preparation
- Avoiding procrastination
- Time management

Handouts on these and other topics are available in the Academic Resource Center. The center's Web site also includes links to other learning-related resources.

Additional information on each of these areas is available at georgefox.edu/arc.

Multicultural Services

The Office of Multicultural Services is a resource center charged with advancing George Fox University's commitment to preparing students for a diverse society and promoting equality and integrity on the campus, in the community, and in the world. Cultural difference is the Lord's creation, which all of us should be proud of and celebrate.

The office provides individuals with the opportunity to broaden their views and enrich their cultural experiences through participation in diversity programs and training workshops.

The office encourages and facilitates activities that allow students to voice their opinions, serve the community, and advocate for making George Fox University a place that welcomes difference and individuality.

George Fox University fosters diversity through the belief that awareness and knowledge of diversity and the ability to operate in a pluralistic society are important hallmarks of a quality liberal arts education.

The multicultural experiences on and off campus prepare students to serve the Lord across the globe. Education in the multicultural arena, by following teachings of the gospel, encourages the development of a distinctively Christian worldview in the context of habits of lifelong learning.

A multicultural presence helps all students better understand the challenges and rewards of living in a diverse climate. Day-to-day dialogue among students, faculty, and administrators, crucial to the teaching-learning process, is enhanced by diversity in a campus community where heterogeneity, whether cultural, racial, or economic, gives voice to a wider range of perspectives and worldview.

Disability Services

The director of the Academic Resource Center coordinates services for students with disabilities. This office also promotes campus awareness of issues and needs related to disabilities. Disability Services works with students to arrange appropriate academic adjustments, modifications, or services given the context of a particular class or area of campus. Services have included note taking, exam accommodations, arrangements for priority seating, and adaptive technology.

Interested students should contact Disability Services and provide documentation of disability and information concerning desired accommodations. Students are encouraged to contact Disability Services as early as possible to make arrangements for necessary support services. More details are available on the Web site. For more information, contact Rick Muthiah, Academic Resource Center director, at ext. 2314 or rmuthiah@georgefox.edu. The Office of Student Life and Disability Services is located on the third floor of the Stevens Center.

Health and Counseling Services

Counseling and health care professional services are provided at no cost to students who have paid the student health/counseling fee (Psy.D. only). All other students are charged $20 per visit for services rendered. Nominal fees are charged for psychological assessment and laboratory fees.

General medical and counseling services are located in Health and Counseling Services on the Newberg campus. Diagnosis and treatment for illnesses and injuries, immunizations, allergy injections, referrals to local physicians, and health education are available. A medical professional is available by appointment, and a registered nurse is available throughout the school day for outpatient care during the months of September through mid-May.

The counseling staff consists of a licensed psychologist and several master's-level counselors. Individual counseling, with a focus on using short-term techniques, is provided for students who wish to discuss a wide variety of personal concerns. Sessions are normally planned weekly and usually last about one hour.

Marriage and premarital counseling, outreach seminars, crisis intervention, testing, and referral also are available. Counseling sessions are by appointment only.

All records in Health and Counseling Services are confidential.

Health Insurance: George Fox University requires all full-time graduate students (those taking 8 hours or more) to have health insurance. Students must verify adequate insurance coverage elsewhere or they will automatically be enrolled in the Student Medical Insurance Plan at the time of registration. The university does not assume responsibility of medical expenses incurred by graduate and seminary students and their families. Health insurance information is available on the Health and Counseling Web site. No dependent coverage is available.

Required Immunizations: The state of Oregon requires every student born after December 1956 to have proof of two measles immunizations.

Student Financial Services

This office, located in the Stevens Center on the Newberg campus, awards scholarships, grants, loans, and other forms of financial assistance. It also sends bills to students for tuition, fees, room and board, and other expenses related to attending the university. The office assists with payment-plan options and counsels students regarding the various plans. Some deposits and payments for graduate and professional studies programs may be made at the Portland, Salem, and Boise centers.

Registrar's Office

Located in the Stevens Center on the Newberg campus, this office maintains student course registration and academic records including grades and degree audits. Students may order transcripts through this office. Some registration services for graduate and professional studies students are also offered at the Portland Center. Many registration services — including access to the class schedule, registration information, grades, and unofficial transcript and degree audits — are available online through Bruindata.

Academic Programs

Facilities

Murdock Learning Resource Center (Newberg) and Portland Center Library (Tigard)

George Fox University maintains libraries at both the Newberg and Portland Center campuses. The Murdock Learning Resource Center (MLRC) is a three-story, 35,000-square-foot building serving the Newberg campus from a central location. The MLRC houses 130,000 print volumes and receives nearly 900 periodical titles. Several thousand full-text periodicals are also available online from both the Newberg campus and the Portland Center. The MLRC has several special collections, including the Quaker Collection of basic Quaker books, pamphlets, and periodicals. The archives of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church and of George Fox University, dating from the 1880s, are preserved in a special room. The Hoover Collection contains materials written about President Herbert Hoover and his administration. The Peace Collection contains books and periodicals pertaining to conflict resolution and international peacekeeping.

The Portland Center library houses 64,000 print volumes and receives more than 300 periodicals. The collection is especially strong in religion and counseling. Also located in the Portland Center library are the archives of George Fox Evangelical Seminary.

The university's online library catalog provides access to the holdings of both the Murdock Learning Resource Center and the Portland Center library. Students at one site may request books from the other location through the catalog. The library system is a member of OCLC, with direct access to a database of 50 million bibliographic records that represent the holdings of thousands of member libraries in the region and the nation. Interlibrary loan services are available at both sites. Computers at both library locations provide access to numerous indices and abstracts, some of which are linked to full text sources. George Fox is a member of the Portland Area Library System (PORTALS), through which access is provided to member libraries and databases. The university is also a member of Orca, a consortium of academic libraries with a union catalog located at the University of Oregon. Through Orca, borrowing students may request books from other libraries, normally receiving them within three working days. Consortia agreements permit George Fox students to borrow from the Portland State University library, as well as numerous other private and state university libraries in Oregon and Washington.

Friends Center

In conjunction with George Fox University, Northwest Yearly Meeting has established a Friends Center serving the leadership preparation needs of Friends in the Northwest and beyond. The mission of this center is to recruit, promote, and coordinate the leadership preparation ventures of Friends at George Fox University as a means of furthering the central mission of the university and Northwest Yearly Meeting in fostering Christ-centered faith and practice. The activities of the center are administrated by a director, who reports to a board of directors, consisting of appropriate yearly meeting, university, and at-large members. While the work of the Friends Center will be especially concerned with the seminary and the undergraduate programs, its contribution should be seen as extending to other programs as well. The Friends Center, therefore, is intended to assist George Fox University in accomplishing its Christ-centered and Quaker mission in any ways that would be serviceable.

Tilikum Retreat Center

Christian camping is emphasized through the facilities of university-owned Tilikum, a center near Newberg for retreats and outdoor ministries, serving the greater Portland area. The combined strengths of the faculty in health and human performance, family and consumer sciences, Christian educational ministries, and more come together in a program for preparing camp leaders.

Tilikum features a year-round program of retreats with a wide appeal to all ages and denominations. More than 2,500 children enjoy the summer camping program. University students have opportunities for study, recreation, personal renewal, and employment.

The Tilikum staff provides the following kinds of retreat experiences:

1. Relational — family groups, men, women, couples, teens, and single parents — with a goal of strengthening the entire family unit
2. Planning and retooling for local churches
3. Senior adult Elderhostels
4. Retreats for university students emphasizing spiritual growth, recreation activities, or team building on Tilikum's challenge course

Center for Peace and Justice

The Center for Peace and Justice was established in order that George Fox University have an active learning program dealing with peacemaking and conflict resolution. Planning for the center was the specific result of searching questions about the university's contribution to peacemaking made by Senator Mark Hatfield in his address at the 1984 inauguration of President Edward Stevens. Hatfield now teaches a peace studies course at George Fox.

The center coordinates a number of courses, taught by faculty in various departments, which can be combined in a minor or used to enrich preparation for service in such careers as social work, pastoral ministry, peace education, teaching in public or private schools, diplomacy, and business. In addition to regular course work, the center offers a variety of learning experiences for students and community participants, including lectures, films, international work/study trips, and field experience placements. Research is encouraged and made possible by the peace collection in the M. J. Murdock Learning Resource Center and by the specialized materials in the Center for Peace and Justice.

The Center for Peace and Justice conducts a study program in conflict management to prepare students for practical peacemaking in their work, church, community, and family. Certificates are awarded upon completion of the program, details of which are presented in the peace and conflict studies section of the undergraduate catalog.

Herbert Hoover Symposia

Every two years since 1977, members of the history faculty have invited to the George Fox University campus leading authorities on the life and career of Herbert Hoover. These meetings are attended by professional historians, students, faculty, and friends of the university. Credit is offered to students who study selected aspects of the rich and varied career of the 31st president of the United States.

The ties between Herbert Hoover and George Fox University began in 1885. That fall, 11-year-old Bert Hoover, recently orphaned in Iowa, moved to Newberg, Ore., to live with his uncle and aunt, Dr. Henry John and Laura Ellen Minthorn. Minthorn had recently opened Friends Pacific Academy, and Bert enrolled in the first class shortly after his arrival. He studied under dedicated Quaker mentors and helped pay his way by tending furnace, sweeping floors, and cleaning blackboards.

"As a young student there for three years," President Herbert Clark Hoover said in later years, "I received whatever set I may have had toward good purposes in life."

The academy was the predecessor school to George Fox University, which was founded in 1891. Those on campus with a sense of heritage often think of the quiet lad who studied here a century ago. No one dreamed he would grow to be named "Engineer of the Century," that he would live and work on five continents, that he would direct the greatest humanitarian projects the world has seen -- and that in 1928 he would be elected president of the United States.

"I can't afford to underestimate the potential of any student," is the way one professor puts it. "The steady gaze of young Bert in those old photos won't let me!"

School of Professional Studies

Program Description

The School of Professional Studies offers five majors to adult students who are returning to college to complete their undergraduate degree.

The majors are unique alternatives to the traditional method of pursuing a college degree. Courses are designed to meet the needs and learning styles of working adults. Classes are conveniently located and meet one night each week, and several Friday nights/Saturdays, as well as online.

Students study with other adults who share similar interests and concerns. Together they form an academic learning community, drawing from their own personal, professional, and technical backgrounds as they follow an intense program of classes and individual study.

Students who successfully complete the courses of their major program and the accompanying degree requirements are granted either a bachelor of science degree in management and business information systems (MBIS) or project management (MPJM), or a bachelor of arts degree in social and behavioral studies (MSBS), management and organizational leadership (MGOL), or health administration (MGHA).

Applicants to these programs generally require a minimum of 62 semester hours of transferable college credit from accredited institutions or approved military education. General education requirements, totaling 35 semester credits (included as part of the minimum transfer hours required), should be completed upon entrance.

Through these programs the School of Professional Studies serves the needs of adult learners and helps them assess personal values, develop interpersonal skills, and enhance competencies in order to better contribute to the organizations and individuals they seek to serve.

Credit for Prior Learning

College-level learning occurs in many environments in addition to the traditional college classroom. Students in the professional studies degree programs may earn college credit for learning outside of the classroom. Prior learning credit is evaluated and assessed only after enrollment into a School of Professional Studies degree program. A maximum of 28 semester hours may be earned through prior learning credit.

Prior learning credit is evaluated and assessed after enrollment into a School of Professional Studies degree program and is then officially awarded and transcribed.

PREP (Prerequisite Requirements for Educational Programs)

PREP classes will assist in building required credits in order to enter one of the degree-completion programs. The classes are designed for adult learners and scheduled either evenings or weekends. The classes offered are general education or general elective credits. Please contact the School of Professional Studies or admissions for the schedule of coming PREP classes.

Course Structure

Courses are taught seminar style. Students contribute life and organizational experiences in a cooperative learning environment. Simulations, discussions, and team projects are used to enhance learning. Out-of-class assignments include reading, research, and writing on selected topics.

The required 36-semester-hour MGOL, MGHA, MBIS, and MPJM curricula include four-hour weekly evening class sessions and several Friday night/Saturday sessions.

The 36-semester-hour MSBS curriculum includes four-hour weekly evening class sessions and several Friday night/Saturday sessions. Practicum hours can be chosen as elective course credits. Students in the MSBS program are required to plan, implement, and report on an approved research project. The project examines issues in the student's social and behavioral environment.

The School of Professional Studies offers its programs in the following locations:

- Portland, Oregon
- Salem, Oregon
- Boise, Idaho

who desire training that is both theoretically sound and humanly meaningful. Managers have become increasingly aware of the importance of values, ethics, service, and other spiritually significant elements that are part and parcel of George Fox University programs.

The M.B.A. is intended to prepare practitioners in a variety of fields in both the profit and not-for-profit sectors. Some of the areas it is designed to cover include the following:

Attention is given to how managers do all of the above with competence, character, effectiveness, and enjoyment.

Doctor of Psychology

(Psy.D. Degree)

Program Description

The Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.) Program follows a professional (practitioner-scholar) model and is designed to prepare qualified, professional psychologists. The professional model is distinguished from the more traditional scientist-practitioner model leading to the Ph.D. While the Psy.D. degree provides training in the scientific foundations of psychology and in research methods and statistics, it places greater emphasis on the development of clinical skills. Since the initial endorsement of the doctor of psychology degree by the American Psychological Association in 1979, the professional model has been incorporated into the training programs of many universities and professional schools. The Graduate Department of Clinical Psychology (GDPC) of George Fox University is fully accredited by the American Psychological Association. (The American Psychological Association's Committee on Accreditation is located at 750 First Street N.E. in Washington, D.C. 20002, and their phone number is 202-336-5979.) The curriculum of the GDPC is designed as an integral five-year program. The first two years emphasize study in the scientific foundations of psychology, biblical and theological studies, and an introduction to clinical theory and practice. As the student advances in the program, the emphasis shifts toward application of basic knowledge through integration of these areas in clinical practice. Professional training in assessment and psychotherapy begins in the first year with course work and prepracticum, and clinical training continues incrementally throughout the program, culminating in the clinical internship.

The goal of the GDCP is to prepare professional psychologists who are competent to provide psychological services in a wide variety of clinical settings, who are knowledgeable in the evaluation, implementation, and application of psychological research, and who are committed to the highest standards of professional ethics. The central distinctive of the program is the integration of a Christian worldview and the science of psychology, at philosophical, practical, and personal levels. The program offers specialized training in dealing with the psychological aspects of religious or spiritual issues within the Christian and other religious communities.

Graduates are prepared for licensure as clinical psychologists. Alumni of the GDCP are licensed psychologists in more than 30 states throughout the U.S. They engage in practice in a variety of settings, including independent and group practices, hospitals, community and public health agencies, government, university counseling centers, church and parachurch organizations, and mission agencies. Graduates also teach in a variety of settings, including colleges and seminaries.

A master of arts degree is normally conferred following successful completion of the first two years of the program and associated requirements (see following). The M.A. degree is not designed or intended as a terminal degree; consequently, only students intending to complete doctoral study are admitted into the GDCP.

Mission

The mission of the GDCP is to prepare clinical psychologists who demonstrate:

- Excellence and professionalism in the clinical skills of assessment, diagnosis, psychotherapy, consultation, and supervision
- Broad knowledge of psychological literature, competence in utilizing the empirical literature in direct service and program development, and the ability to communicate psychological findings to the public
- Commitment to the highest ethical standards and practices
- Sensitivity, respect, and competence in dealing with persons who hold a variety of worldviews from diverse sociocultural and religious backgrounds
- Basic knowledge of the Bible and Christian theology, specific knowledge of the scholarly literature in psychology and Christian faith and psychology of religion, and specialized knowledge, attitudes, and skills in the provision of psychological services to the Christian community and others with religious or spiritual issues

Consistent with the mission of George Fox University, training is carried out within the framework of a Christian worldview and reflects the distinctive Quaker traditions of social service and advocacy for the rights and well-being of all persons, especially those whose opportunities are compromised by prejudice and injustice. This integration of faith and service is also a distinctive of the program.

Clinical Training

Clinical training is a central component of the Psy.D. curriculum. Although it is a distinct part of the curriculum, it is also integrated with the academic course work throughout the program. The clinical training process begins in the first year and continues throughout the program, ultimately preparing the student for postdoctoral residency training and licensure as a psychologist.

The initial step involves prepracticum training, a laboratory course designed to introduce basic legal, ethical, and professional issues and to prepare the student for direct client contact. The course consists of readings, lectures, team meetings, and systematic training in human relations skills, the latter accomplished through supervised group process experiences and interactional dyads. Audio and video recordings of the interaction process are used in supervision to provide effective feedback for the student.

Following the completion of prepracticum training, the student enrolls in Practicum I and II, which are taken during the second and third years. These experiences take place at a variety of agencies in the community. The practicum sequence provides the student with ongoing, supervised experience in the application of psychological principles in assessment and psychotherapy within a variety of clinical settings offering a wide range of problems and clientele. In addition to supervised clinical experience at the training site, the practicum student is involved in weekly supervision and training at George Fox, including team meetings with peers and faculty members, oversight groups, didactic seminars, and special colloquia.

The preinternship sequence of training follows completion of Practicum I and II, and lasts throughout the fourth year. The preinternship sequence enables students to further develop their clinical skills and to gain the experience necessary to prepare for internship. During the preinternship sequence, students continue to receive ongoing, supervised experience in assessment and psychotherapy in a variety of clinical settings. Preinternship training also involves supervision of practicum and prepracticum students, weekly team meetings and oversight groups with faculty members, and presentations of advanced topics in a seminar format. The preintern student is encouraged to develop a broad range of clinical skills with diverse clinical populations rather than specialize prematurely. Although specialization is often desirable, it is best done during the internship or during postdoctoral residency and continued professional training. By the end of practicum training, students will have accrued more than 1,800 hours of supervised clinical activity.

The final phase of predoctoral clinical training involves a one-year, full-time internship (50 weeks; 2,000 hours). Internship locations often necessitate students moving to another community (often to another state) for the internship year. Students are strongly encouraged to obtain APA-accredited or APPIC-recognized internships and a high percentage of GDCP achieve this objective. The director of clinical training guides students in applying for appropriate internships. The internship is begun in the fifth year and usually consists of a one-year, full-time placement in a single facility, but may be begun in the fourth year and consist of a two-year, half-time placement in one or two settings.

A clinical training file is maintained on each student as he or she progresses through the clinical training sequence. This file contains evaluations, work samples, and clinical competency ratings on each student. Advancement through the clinical training sequence requires approval of the student's advisor, and all internship placements must be arranged through the director of clinical training. (See GDCP Clinical Training Handbook for more information.)

The program does not require supervisees to disclose personal information in program-related activities either orally or in writing, regarding sexual history, history of abuse and neglect, and relationships with parents, peers, and spouses or significant others. Nonetheless, relating personal information is often part of the important process of building self-awareness by the aspiring psychologist. Therefore these areas may be discussed during supervision. In addition, sometimes such information is necessary to evaluate or obtain assistance for students whose personal problems could reasonably be judged to be preventing them from performing their training or professionally related activities in a competent manner. Individual psychotherapy is encouraged for all students, although it is not a requirement.

Research Sequence

The research sequence introduces students to statistical methods and research design while cultivating the foundational skills necessary for the critical evaluation of scientific research and clinical programs. In addition, students are given broad exposure to the research literature in clinical psychology and the psychology of religion. Students are encouraged to participate in ongoing research, and in recent years a majority of graduates have had a research paper accepted for professional presentation or publication.

Students participate in vertically integrated research teams beginning in their first year. These teams meet biweekly with core faculty members as team leaders. Teams consist of small groups of students from each year in the program. During the first year, students rotate through all research teams to observe and learn about the areas of research being undertaken. In the second year, students choose a team in which they wish to participate throughout the remainder of their experience with the GDCP. Students will then engage in research under the direction and support of the faculty member who leads the team. This research will culminate in completion and defense of the doctoral dissertation. The research teams provide a mentoring experience for students as they learn about research, engage in their own research, and often participate in additional collaborative research with other team members.

The dissertation, while usually empirical, can also be theoretical or applied. It is normally completed during the third or fourth years of the program. The goal of the research sequence is to equip graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary for the effective generation and use of the evolving body of knowledge in the science of psychology, and in so doing, to lay a foundation for continued professional growth and contribution throughout each graduate's career. (See GDCP Research Policies Handbook for more information.)

Research and Training Facilities

The psychology computer lab is located within the Stevens Center computer lab on the Newberg campus. High-speed computers, laser printers, and complete statistical (SPSS) and graphics software are provided. In addition, students have access to university e-mail and library search engines from their home computers.

The Murdock Learning Resource Center provides library support for the psychology program. The library has an excellent collection of materials addressing the integration of psychology and the Christian faith and a good collection of contemporary work in most areas of psychology. In addition, the library receives or has immediate full-text access to more than 100 periodicals in psychology and related disciplines. Students also have online access to major computerized databases through library services, including PsycINFO, DIALOG, ERIC, MEDLINE, and many others. George Fox University also maintains cooperative arrangements with other local educational institutions, providing psychology students with a full range of user services, including interlibrary loans and direct borrowing privileges.

The Health and Counseling Center serves as an on-campus training facility for students in the clinical training sequence. The counseling center has six counseling offices and a group therapy room dedicated to training. Training equipment includes video and audio monitoring equipment, one-way mirrors, and recording equipment. A student lounge area is available and is used for informal gatherings, including a monthly time for GDCP community worship.

Faculty

Members of the George Fox University faculty bring a wealth of professional experience and a diversity of theoretical backgrounds to the classroom. Among the core psychology faculty members are five psychologists and one psychiatrist; four core clinical faculty members are licensed psychologists who represent varied specialty areas and research interests; one core faculty member is a licensed physician; and one basic science faculty member is a specialist in research design, statistical methods, and cognitive psychology. All core faculty are actively engaged in research and other scholarly activity. A number of adjunct faculty members further enhance the course offerings, clinic training, and specialties available to students in the program.

Theoretical orientations represented by the faculty include psychodynamic, behavioral, cognitive-behavioral, object relational, family systems, and psychobiological. Despite its diversity in theoretical orientation, the faculty is united by a common commitment to a Christian worldview, to providing high-quality professional training and mentoring, and to upholding the highest standards of scholarship, ethics, and clinical expertise among its students.

Additionally, several of the core psychology faculty members have graduate degrees or course work in theology and religion. Thus, the faculty is well trained to fulfill the stated mission and objectives of the GDCP.

Professional Standards

Standards for graduate education in psychology, as well as for practice of psychology, are set by the policies of the American Psychological Association (APA) through its Committee on Accreditation and those of the relevant state laws and administrative rules. In Oregon, these include the Oregon Revised Statutes and Oregon Administrative Rules of the Oregon State Board of Psychologist Examiners. The design, structure, and processes of graduate education at George Fox University are influenced by these statutes and policies. Consequently, in addition to the policies of the university's graduate program, students in the psychology program are expected to know and abide by the professional standards established by these regulatory agencies. Both faculty and students are expected to adhere to the APA Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct (2003).

Admission

Admission to the psychology program requires a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited college or university. A GPA above 3.0 and approximately 18 semester hours of psychology or other related social science credits are generally required. In addition, applicants must submit scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) Aptitude Scales, including the writing section, the Psychology GRE Subject Test, and complete the general application requirements of George Fox University. An in-person interview is also requested. Students with graduate credit and those who hold an advanced psychology or theology degree may petition to have as many as 35 hours of credit transferred.

During recent years, the median GPA of admitted students has been about 3.6, and median GRE scores (combined Verbal and Quantitative Aptitude scores) about 1200. Applicants will generally have a GPA of 3.4 or better and GRE scores greater than 1050; however, applicants who show significant promise may occasionally be admitted although they do not meet these criteria.

Students admitted to the GDCP describe themselves as embracing a Christian worldview and agree to abide by the community lifestyle expectations listed in the admission application.

There is a limited amount of scholarship funding reserved for students who bring cultural and/or ethnic diversity to the program. Teaching and research assistant jobs are available on a competitive basis.

Graduate Studies in Religion Course Offerings

George Fox University offers a range of graduate courses in religion designed especially to serve the Psy.D. program. Sixteen hours of required courses in religion are offered with regularity, and several other seminars integrating religion and psychology are offered on a rotating basis. Integration paradigm seminars or specialized studies may be conducted with the consent of faculty members on an individualized basis to meet the needs and interests of students.

Graduate Biblical Studies Courses

BIBG 511 Old Testament Studies and Interpretation

3 hours. An investigation of the books of the Old Testament emphasizing thematic and structural elements that enhance the student's ability to perceive unity within diversity and that provide a basis for continued theological and integrative studies. Issues in interpretation will also be explored, with attention given to meaningful application of central themes.

BIBG 521 New Testament Studies and Interpretation

3 hours. An introduction to the New Testament literature and the contextual settings of the writings. Building on the approach outlined in BIBG 511, this course also explores matters of unity and diversity in the first-century Christian movement and helps the student become familiar with appropriate interpretive methodologies leading to meaningful application of central themes.

Graduate Religion Courses

RELG 510 Christian Theology

3 hours. A study of classical and contemporary models for developing a consistent, logical, and systematic approach to Christian theology based on an authoritative view of Scripture. Experiential aspects of faith will also be considered, accompanied by analyses of strengths and weaknesses of particular theological approaches to life's pressing issues.

RELG 520 Spiritual Formation

2 hours. An introduction to the ways God works in human lives, effecting redemptive change and spiritual transformation. A theoretical basis for reflection, combined with experiential components of the classical spiritual disciplines, will enable the student to establish a personal foundation of spiritual formation, including such elements as prayer, journaling, and various approaches to worship.

RELG 530 Contemporary Religious Worldviews

2 hours. An introduction to the development and teachings of the major non-Christian religions of the world (East and West). Special attention to elements shaping multicultural understandings of God, humanity, the world, and the purpose/goal of life will be explored with special attention given to how the Christian therapist might become sensitized to a broad range of religious views, concerns, and practices.

RELG 551 History of Theology and Church Tradition

3 hours. An overview of significant events, people, and developments in the history of the Christian movement from the first century to the present. The purpose is to provide a panoramic view of church history as a foundation for continued reflection upon the central aspects of Christian faith as well as the key issues and traditions that shaped Western culture and society.

RELG 576 Religion Integration Seminars

1 hour. These are a series of one-hour or one, two-hour seminars that are team-taught by psychology and religion professors. Usually, one seminar is offered in the fall and one in the spring. Topics vary from year to year so that a variety of issues relevant to applied integration of psychology and Christianity can be covered. (Identical to PSYD 576.)

General Academic Information

Length of Program

The Doctor of Psychology Program is designed to be completed in five years of full-time study, with a maximum of seven years allowed from the date of initial enrollment. The student who is not able to complete the program within seven years must file a letter of appeal for extension with the chairperson of the Graduate Department of Clinical Psychology, outlining plans for completion and providing an explanation of the circumstances that necessitate projecting the course of study beyond the seven-year period.

Continuous Enrollment

Students are expected to maintain continuous enrollment throughout the program. While full-time enrollment normally consists of a minimum of 9 hours each semester, failure to enroll for a minimum of 2 hours each semester (summer term is excepted) will result in suspension from the program. Reenrollment will require application for readmission.

Leave of Absence

Students who must temporarily discontinue graduate study for medical or other reasons may arrange a leave of absence of up to one academic year with the approval of their advisor and the chairperson of the GDGP. Students who wish to discontinue for longer than one year will normally be required to apply for readmission into the program.

Grading Policy, Scholarship, Probation, and Suspension

A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is expected in all course work within the program. Students whose work does not meet this requirement will be placed on probation and will be expected to raise their GPA to the 3.0 level in the following semester. Failure to do so may result in academic suspension.

The following also are grounds for academic probation or dismissal:

- A grade of C in three or more courses
- A grade of D or F in any course
- A failing (no pass) grade in practica
- A GPA below 3.0 for two semesters

- Failure to pass the comprehensive exam by the end of the third year of study

The Student Handbook and Clinical Training Handbook contain additional information concerning grading practices and other evaluation policies and procedures related to student progress in the GDCP.

Student Evaluation

In addition to course grades, an evaluation of each student's academic progress, interpersonal relationships, legal and ethical conduct, and clinical skills is performed annually by the faculty of the GDCP. Practicum supervisors also provide regular evaluations of students' knowledge, skill, and professional attitudes displayed in clinical settings. Students failing to act in an ethical or professional manner, receiving unsatisfactory evaluation by practicum or internship supervisors, failing to comply with George Fox University standards of conduct, or showing other evidence of deficiency in professional development may be dismissed from the program.

Transfer Credit

In some cases, a student may wish to transfer graduate-level course work previously earned at another accredited university or seminary. Guidelines covering transfer credit are detailed on our Web site (psyd.georgefox.edu) and in the Student Handbook of the GDCP. These guidelines are in addition to general university policies outlined in this catalog. No transfer credit will be granted for Prepracticum, Practicum I and II, Preinternship, or Internship.

Psy.D. Degree Requirements

The doctor of psychology (Psy.D.) degree requires the satisfactory completion of the following:

- All required courses = 125 semester hours. These hours include:
 - 81 hours of psychology courses (scientific foundations, psychological research, and clinical psychology)
 - 16 hours of clinical training (Prepracticum, Practicum I and II, and Preinternship)
 - 16 hours of Bible/religion/integration
 - 12 hours of dissertation
- Comprehensive Examination: The Subject Test in Psychology of the Graduate Record Examination (PGRE) comprises the M.A. comprehensive examination. Students must achieve a standard score at the 75th percentile or greater. Should a student score lower than this minimum level, he or she may retake the examination at the next scheduled administration. Such students may continue to enroll, but will not be admitted to doctoral standing until a satisfactory score on the examination is earned. Failure to do so by the end of the third year may result in dismissal from the program. (See GDCP Student Handbook for additional information.)
- Full-time internship: the equivalent of a one-year full-time internship (normally 50 weeks and 2,000 clock hours).

- Defense of doctoral dissertation (minimum of 12 hours) and related documentation components.

Academic Class Standing

For purposes of academic standing by class, the following guidelines are established:

- First year: fewer than 30 hours
- Second year: 30+ hours to M.A. conferral
- Third year: 60+ hours and M.A. conferral
- Fourth year: 90+ hours and M.A. conferral
- Fifth year: internship

M.A. Conferral

The M.A. is conferred as a transitional degree en route to the Psy.D., rather than as a terminal degree. It is conferred following completion of 60 hours of course work, including 54 hours of psychology and 6 hours of Bible courses. Psychology course requirements include 4 hours of Prepracticum and 4 hours of Practicum. Specific requirements are listed in the Student Handbook of the GDCP, and are marked on the Recommended Sequence that follows. In addition, the student must successfully complete the Comprehensive Examination. A graduation application must be filed with the registrar's office one semester prior to the anticipated completion of the requirements for the M.A. degree.

Counseling Degrees

Counseling Academic Program Information

The following information pertains to the counseling program only. Please check with your advisor to confirm the specific requirements for your program.

Degree Candidacy

Candidacy for the master of arts in counseling degree or master of arts and certificate in marriage and family therapy, master of arts and certificate in school counseling, and the master of science and certificate in school psychology will be determined by the GDC faculty after the student has been admitted into their chosen degree or certificate program. Candidacy serves as a way to assess the student's fit for the program, fit for the profession, emotional, psychological and intellectual ability, as well as maturity level for functioning safely as a mental health professional. GDC students are required to go through the candidacy process within their first year of study. It is the GDC student's responsibility to be aware of testing and interview times and deadlines. Students that have not gone through the candidacy process within their first year, or have to re-candidate or have failed candidacy, may not take classes in the GDC until they have passed the candidacy process. It is the policy of the GDC that students may only re-candidate one time. If degree candidacy is not awarded, the student cannot take additional course work in the GDC, and is ineligible for internship. Only students that passed or provisionally passed candidacy may start their internship after having completed all prerequisites. For more specific information, please refer to the applicable student handbook.

Time Limitations

After degree candidacy has been granted, the student must complete the program within a five-year period. One extension request may be considered under special circumstances, such as ill health. If the program is not completed by that time, the candidacy shall lapse. A student wishing to reestablish candidacy will need to reapply to the faculty of the appropriate department, who shall have jurisdiction to make any further requirements deemed necessary for such reinstatement.

Certificate in Marriage and Family Therapy

Program Objectives

Because the vast array of practitioners in the helping professions are faced with the need for expertise in providing resources to couples and families, the Graduate Department of Counseling provides the special training and expertise required for working effectively with couples and families.

Helping professionals — e.g., licensed professional counselors, clinical psychologists, and social workers — who want and need to be more effective in their service to parents, couples, and families can avail themselves of a variety of educational and training opportunities.

A person may take an occasional professional studies offering, or one may wish to enroll in the Certificate in Marriage and Family Therapy Program that includes not only essential seminars and course work but also a supervised clinical experience in marriage and family therapy in one or more community settings.

Licensed professional counselors and others who hold at least a master's degree in counseling or another mental health degree may qualify to pursue full clinical membership in the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) and Oregon licensure as a marriage and family therapist (LMFT).

Certificate Requirements

Each certificate applicant will be assessed, and a plan of training developed according to his/her specific needs. Graduate course work completed with a grade of B or higher from an accredited school may be considered for transfer credit. Transfer credit will be limited to 12 semester hours of graduate course work from an accredited institution and is subject to the approval of the Graduate Department of Counseling. Applicants will be required to address any academic deficiencies.

- Satisfactorily complete a minimum of 30 semester hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or above.
- No grade shall be lower than a B in all core courses. If a grade of a B- or lower is received in a course, that course must be retaken (for more specific information please refer to the student handbook).
- Meet all requirements for certificate candidacy, including submission of the 16 PF, a group interpretation, a write-up by the student to be brought to the candidacy interview, and a personal interview with the counseling faculty. (Candidacy can be granted, provisionally granted, re-candidated, or denied. Students can re-candidate only one time. Students may be required to take the MMPI in cases of provisional pass and denial of candidacy. For more information, please refer to your student handbook.)
- Undergo a minimum of 20 one-hour sessions of therapy from a family systems perspective with a qualified, approved marriage and family therapist.
- Complete a supervised clinical internship in marriage and family therapy that meets the currently articulated criteria for such training, with at least 50 percent of the contact hours with couples and families (e.g., AAMFT — 700 hours total, with 270 direct client contact hours; ACA — 600 hours total, with 240 of those being direct client contact hours).
- Successfully complete the graduate clinical project (reading fees are assessed during the final semester of clinical internship), in which the student articulates his/her current understanding of family therapy and applies the same through an analysis of his/her counseling practice, an evaluation of his/her strengths, and a three-year professional development plan.

Play Therapy Certificate Program

The Graduate Department of Counseling's Northwest Center for Play Therapy Studies (NWCPTS) provides a Certificate in Play Therapy, which will meet the educational requirements for becoming a Registered Play Therapist (RPT) through the Association for Play Therapy (APT), an international organization established in 1982.

Students currently enrolled in a master's program in a mental health profession, or human service professionals who hold a bachelor's degree that pertains to children will benefit from the certificate by acquiring the knowledge and skills to competently provide individual, group, and family play therapy.

Students in pursuit of this certificate should meet with the director of the Northwest Center for Play Therapy Studies (NCPTS) for more information about how to meet the GFU/GDC and/or Association for Play Therapy (APT) requirements.

Prerequisites: Students must have completed a bachelor's degree in a mental health field and a graduate course equivalent to COUN 501 Principles and Techniques of Counseling.

Registration: Regular university registration requirements and procedures apply.

Mental Health Trauma Certificate

The Graduate Department of Counseling is offering a Mental Health Trauma Certificate. The certificate is designed to prepare mental health professionals to be more fully prepared to work with trauma survivors. It is designed to provide mental health professionals (in pursuit of a master's or higher degree, as well as those with a master's or higher degree in a mental health field) with a foundation to understand the physiological and psychological impact of trauma on trauma survivors, their families, and the community.

The program allows great flexibility and an opportunity for participants to choose from a selection of courses to meet the needs and interests of the individual, with the opportunity of specialization in one of three areas:

1. School trauma/disaster (e.g., school shootings, suicides, gang violence, child abductions, and other acts of violence)
2. Community trauma/disaster (e.g., human-made disasters [terrorism, bombing, shootings, hostage situations, etc.] and natural disasters [earthquake, floods, fire, tornado, hurricane, etc.])
3. International trauma/disaster (e.g., human-made [terrorism, bombing, shootings, war, etc.] and natural disasters [earthquake, floods, fire, tornado, hurricane, etc.])

The certificate is designed to provide foundational knowledge and understanding of trauma, as well as knowledge and skills in the chosen area of specialization. All workshops will address issues of gender, race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and spirituality.

Certificate Structure

The program consists of 47 clock hours of core course work and an additional 40 clock hours of electives in the chosen specialty area(s). This non-degree certificate of 87 clock hours must be completed within five years. This time frame begins upon taking the first course. Individuals can choose to have several specialty areas, and each specialty area must be completed within a five-year time frame. All course work is offered or sponsored by the Graduate Department of Counseling and presented in the form of workshops. Completion of the workshops provides continuing education units (CEU) only, and not graduate credit, meeting the continuing education requirements for most mental health licensure. Local, national, and international experts in the field teach the workshops.

Important Information

Graduate students enrolled in a master's or doctoral program leading to a degree in a mental health field are welcome to work toward the trauma certificate. Certificate holders should understand that the certificate does not guarantee eligibility to serve as a relief worker with any local or national organization.

Important: Many relief agencies require that mental health professionals serving in that capacity hold a mental health license and must verify that their license is in good standing with the state licensure agency.

Transfer Credit

All continuing education hours for this certificate (except a few specified courses) must be earned through workshops sponsored by the George Fox University Graduate Department of Counseling. There are a few exceptions for transfer credit, as indicated by an asterisk next to the course listing. These will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

PSYX 522 Cognitive and Academic Assessment

4 hours. This course provides an introduction to individualized assessment of cognitive ability (e.g., intelligence and memory) and academic achievement. Theoretical, conceptual, and clinical aspects pertaining to school-based test administration and interpretation will be emphasized. A beginning level of proficiency in administering and interpreting several cognitive and academic measures for children and teenagers will be achieved using weekly hands-on experiences in and out of the classroom. Clinical application to common handicapping conditions (e.g., learning disability, mental retardation, pervasive developmental disability, brain injury) as well as common ethical and conceptual dilemmas will also be highlighted. Formal report writing will also receive attention.

Prerequisite: PSYX 511 Psychometrics (Tests and Measurement).

PSYX 525 Neuropsychological Assessment

2 hours. This course provides an introduction to the neuroanatomical, clinical, and conceptual aspects related to neuropsychological assessment. The intention of the course is NOT to develop proficiency in neuropsychological testing and interpretation, but rather to provide an adequate background in order to help the school psychologist understand the nature of neuropsychological assessment so that he/she has reasonable expectations from such assessment, knows when and how to make appropriate referrals, and can reasonably understand and apply findings and recommendations appearing in formal reports completed by qualified neuropsychologists.

Prerequisites: PSYX 509 Biological Basis of Behavior and PSYX 522 Cognitive and Academic Assessment.

PSYX 526 Child Psychopathology and Assessment

3 hours. This course focuses on common child and adolescent disorders and their assessment. Especially highlighted are the DSM-IV childhood diagnoses. Attention will also be given to consulting with teachers, parents, special educators, school administrators, and other psychologists around diagnostic, assessment, and intervention strategies, as well as legal issues.

Prerequisite: PSYX 522 Cognitive and Academic Assessment.

Education Degrees

George Fox University offers education programs for both preservice and in-service educators. The M.A.T. program provides initial preparation for entry into the teaching profession. Our Educational Foundations and Leadership area offers additional professional growth opportunities through the Ed.D., M.Ed., and administrative licensure programs.

Educational Foundations and Leadership (EDFL)

The Educational Foundations and Leadership department offers two graduate degrees:

Doctor of education (Ed.D.)

Master of education (M.Ed.)

The following endorsements and teaching or administrative licenses have been approved by the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC) and can be earned either within a graduate degree or as a specific program:

- Reading Endorsement
- Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) Endorsement
- Library Media Specialist Endorsement
- Early childhood authorization
- Middle level authorization
- Initial Teaching License (for those with previous teaching experience but without a license)
- Continuing Teaching License
- Initial Administrator License
- Continuing Administrator/Initial Superintendent License
- Continuing Superintendent License

Educational Foundations and Leadership classroom-centered courses (this includes courses in the doctoral, master's, and TSPC-approved programs) are regularly scheduled at the Portland Center during fall and spring semesters, and on the Newberg campus during summer semester. Courses are often offered at additional sites throughout Oregon during the fall and spring semesters. Web-based courses are offered during fall and spring semesters. Students enrolling in Web-based courses are expected to enroll in courses prior to the start of the semester, to order their textbooks, and to have access to both the Internet and email.

In addition to completing a graduate degree or TSPC-approved license or endorsement, Educational Foundation and Leadership courses are also available to educators who need to renew or obtain an Oregon license but are not required to complete a graduate degree. Students may take up to 10 semester hours before formal entry into a program.

Master of Arts in Teaching

(M.A.T. Degree)

Program Description

The Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) Program may be completed in one of three ways: 1) M.A.T. Fulltime: a three-semester full-time format; 2) M.A.T. in Your Community: a two-semester part-time, plus two-semester full-time format; or 3) M.A.T. @ Night: a five-semester part-time format (the last semester is full time). The program is available to individuals who have completed an undergraduate B.A. or B.S. degree in a field other than education. The program allows students, upon completion of the program and passing scores on the appropriate standardized measures (Praxis Specialty Examination for secondary and middle-level licensure, ORELA for elementary licensure and middle-level authorization, and California Basic Educational Skills Test), to receive an Oregon Initial Teaching License.

The Initial Teaching License may bear endorsements in the following areas: advanced mathematics, agriculture, art, basic mathematics*, biology, business, chemistry, drama, family/consumer sciences, French, German, health education, integrated science*, Japanese, language arts, marketing, music, physical education, physics, Russian, social studies, speech communications, Spanish, and technology education.

[*These subjects may be added to another endorsement for high school applicants or can stand alone for elementary/middle school applicants.

These subjects must be combined with another endorsement for high school applicants.]

The three-semester, four-semester, and five-semester curricula include professional education courses and field experiences. Students build on their knowledge of subject matter as they develop pedagogical skills and research methodologies; gain knowledge about the psychological, sociological, historical, and philosophical foundations of education; and apply these understandings in early childhood, elementary, middle, and secondary classrooms.

All graduate candidates are required to have taken and passed the CBEST or Praxis PPST and ORELA prior to being admitted in the program. Secondary graduate candidates are required to have taken and passed the appropriate Praxis Specialty Exam. Middle-level graduate candidates are required to have an appropriate undergraduate degree in the desired content area and/or have passed the appropriate Praxis Specialty Exam. Candidates failing to meet this deadline may apply for an exception and be "conditionally admitted." Prior to full-time student teaching, students in the graduate elementary through middle-level program must have taken and passed the ORELA, and students in the graduate secondary education and middle-level program must have taken and passed the Praxis Specialty Exam for the discipline as necessary. If a student has not completed this requirement, she/he may apply for an exception; however, if an exception is granted and the student does not pass the required exams prior to graduation, the director will not sign any official documents recommending the student as a candidate for licensure in Oregon or any other state.

The goal of the curriculum is to provide a future teacher with the content and methods necessary to be an effective teacher and to meet the federal government's "No Child Left Behind" definition of a "highly qualified teacher." Thematic strands such as decision making, values, curriculum, classroom management, multicultural awareness, research, and technology are integrated throughout the curriculum. The themes add qualities to the program that are not reflected in single courses but are interwoven throughout the curriculum.

The teacher education program at George Fox University has been structured to provide academic and practical experiences that will prepare effective teachers who can successfully meet the challenges of classroom teaching. The form of the teacher education program includes a purposeful use of current research findings on the education of teachers as translated into practical experiences and methodologies. The structure will be characterized by:

Cohort Model

Initially, students will work in cohorts of 15 to 18 students. Cohorts will include early childhood, elementary, middle, and secondary levels. Cohorts are both blended- and authorization-specific. Although they are separate cohorts, they will be blended together for certain experiences.

Theory-into-Practice Links

Practicum experiences will be a large component of the program, beginning with either an enrichment program planned and implemented by the students or a specific volunteer experience. The involvement in a variety of practicum experiences will provide preservice teachers with opportunities to apply learning from course work. University faculty, cooperating teachers, and administrators from local districts will be involved in collaborative efforts to plan links between course work and application in classrooms.

Action Research

A research strand will be woven throughout the program. Students will design an action research project that will be shared at an action research symposium at the completion of the program.

Thematic Strands

Major strands, such as multicultural awareness, values, action research, and decision making, will be incorporated throughout the professional courses. Other topics such as classroom management and technology will also be integrated in several of the professional courses.

Study of the Subject Matter Knowledge and Structure

Students will research and discuss the nature and structure of the subject areas while concentrating on their major subject. They will engage in interdisciplinary discussions that will allow them to discern relationships between the subject areas.

Reflection

The ability to reflect on learning about teaching and on the practice of teaching will be developed in small- and large-group discussions, in journal entries, in papers, and in conferences with supervisors and cooperating teachers.

Doctor of Education

(Ed.D. Degree)

Program Description

The Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) Program prepares educators to be leaders in their chosen specialties. The program focuses on qualities of cultural, moral, and organizational leadership as the basis for leading complex education organizations.

This program assumes that leadership is: (1) a conceptual art, building on the power of theory and ideas; (2) a moral art, depending upon core values; and (3) a performing art, perfecting the integration of theory and values in practice and experience. Within the doctoral program students have the opportunity to meet the requirements for three administrative licenses for service in Oregon's public K-12 schools: Initial Administrator, Continuing Administrator, and Continuing Superintendent licenses. Oregon has reciprocal licensure arrangements with 25 other states, thus allowing those who seek employment elsewhere to meet the administrative licensure requirements for those states.

Students can also focus on becoming curriculum leaders or prepare themselves to teach or lead at the college or university level.

This professionally oriented program is designed to maximize accessibility for full-time educators. Students have an opportunity to complete the degree in four years (more or less) through sessions on the George Fox University campus, Web-based courses, and independent study.

Program Elements

The Doctor of Education Program comprises 55 semester units of course work and a minimum of 8 semester units of dissertation. Students will fulfill these requirements by:

- Transferring up to 17 semester units appropriate to the curriculum past the master's degree
- Taking 36 core semester hours from the following perspective areas: ethics, foundational, teaching and learning, leading and managing, and research
- Taking 19 elective hours (through transfer or course work) in their chosen specialties

The George Fox University post-master's doctoral program in education has five elements:

1. A 36-semester-hour core curriculum that emphasizes leaders as those who seek just, effective, and reasoned solutions to problems encountered in the process of meeting valued institutional and community goals. This curriculum provides a comprehensive framework from ethical, legal, social, political, and historical perspectives within a Christian world view. Students will be well prepared in using qualitative and quantitative research tools to solve organizational problems.

2. Elective courses that allow students to focus on a specialized interest.
3. A comprehensive qualifying exam that reveals students' breadth of knowledge.
4. Competency qualifying projects tied to the ability to communicate ideas to diverse stake holders and to use research effectively when making organizational decisions.
5. A doctoral thesis that reveals the ability to use research tools to shed light on important problems.

Five competency strands are integrated into the courses: (1) effective use of writing to communicate ideas; (2) the ability to use technology to solve problems; (3) the ability to communicate orally to large and small audiences; (4) the ability to use research tools to investigate questions and solve problems; and (5) the ability to integrate faith and learning into professional practice.

Admission

Applicants for admission to the Ed.D. program must submit:

- The doctor of education application form and fee
- Evidence of an approved, accredited master's degree in education or a related field, with a GPA of at least 3.25 on a 4.0 scale
- Evidence of scholarly work (master's thesis, term paper, publication, etc.)
- Three letters of recommendation from people who can comment on your intellectual ability, creativity, initiative, sensitivity to others, and leadership potential
- A personal statement describing present goals and academic interests and showing their connection to your prior experiences (Include in this essay a self-assessment stating your leadership strengths and areas of future growth.)
- Evidence of at least three years of relevant professional experience
- Scores from either the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) or the Millers Analogies Test (MAT)
- A current professional résumé

Program Delivery

Students gain full standing in the program by taking a minimum of 18 hours in continuous enrollment over four semesters.

Students can complete the 63-hour program in four years by taking 18 semester credits in year one and 15 semester credits in years two through four. Those students who have successfully completed appropriate course work past the master's degree may be able to finish the program at a faster pace.

Students can earn any of the three K-12 Oregon administrative licenses while completing the doctor of education degree. Relevant courses are embedded in the core curriculum and electives.

Doctor of Education Requirements (courses in italics are required)

The curriculum is designed so that students are required to take core course hours in the following perspective areas: ethics, foundations, teaching and learning, leading and managing, and research. Within each area students are allowed to choose electives that enhance their own areas of professional development, although some areas have required courses that are essential to the doctorate. Issues of cultural diversity are woven into courses within each perspective area.

Administrative Licenses

Program Description

George Fox University offers candidates the opportunity to earn as many as three licenses that prepare educators to serve in Oregon public schools as K-12 building or district-level administrators. The Initial Administrator License can be earned as a specialization in the master of education degree, as a stand-alone license past the master's degree, or as part of the doctor of education degree. The Continuing Administrator/Initial Superintendent License and the Continuing Superintendent License can be earned as stand-alone licenses past the master's degree or as part of the doctoral program.

Program Goals

George Fox University is committed to providing a program that has as its goal: preparing competent and ethical leaders to meet the personnel needs of schools in Oregon. This can best be accomplished by partnering with public and private schools to identify and develop leaders who have an equal commitment to developing these skills with faith, vision, and love as their foundation.

Schools in the 21st century require new ways of thinking. Leaders will need to help create a vision of the kind of culture and program needed to develop schools of excellence in teaching and learning, and to build support from all stakeholders to progress toward that shared vision.

George Fox University's administrative licensure program supports this style of leadership by focusing the curricula on the Oregon Educational Act for the 21st Century. The program is designed to prepare an educator to be a change agent — one who understands current school practices and then works within the larger political, social, economic, legal, and cultural context to facilitate new ways of helping all students become productive citizens and supporting all teachers to become leaders within schools.

At the completion of the administrative license course work and practicum experiences, candidates will:

- Understand the developmental needs of students at all authorization levels
- Be able to conduct and use research as a tool for improving a learning organization
- Understand the goals of the Oregon Content Standards and how to use them as a guide in assessing your own school's goals and evaluating progress
- Be prepared to lead teachers in helping students meet the standards and in continuing their professional development

RESEARCH PERSPECTIVES

EDFL 701 Quantitative Research Methods

3 hours. Summer semester. Format: classroom centered. Those who make organizational decisions often request quantitative research data to help them solve organizational problems. When the research data is flawed, organizations produce bad social policy. This course helps beginning educational researchers balance the competing demands of formal experimental and survey design principles with the ever-present practical constraints of the real world so that they can conduct sound quantitative research. Emphasis will be placed on formulating research questions, identifying relevant target populations, selecting respondents for study, refining definitions of the effects of interest, identifying relevant comparisons, selecting appropriate measures, determining how many subjects to study, taking advantage of the results of previous research and pilot studies, and anticipating the unanticipated.

Prerequisites: EDFL 703 (or can be taken concurrently) and EDFL 704 (note: doctoral students can test out of EDFL 704).

EDFL 702 Qualitative Research Methods

3 hours. Summer semester. Format: classroom centered. Qualitative research does not mean just using words instead of numbers. This research tradition is increasingly being used in education to answer questions for which experimental and quantitative methods are inappropriate or incomplete. This course introduces the basic issues of theory and method in qualitative research and provides a structured, supportive environment for learning the essential skills of qualitative research. These skills include negotiating a research relationship with those studied, identifying and critiquing one's own assumptions about the people and issues studied, developing research questions, conducting observations and interviews, confronting ethical issues, analyzing qualitative data, and communicating the results of research.

Prerequisites: EDFL 703 (or can be taken concurrently) and EDFL 704 (note: doctoral students can test out of EDFL 704).

Designed to develop conceptual and technical skills needed for designing and executing experimental and quasi-experimental designs that can be implemented in classrooms, schools, and other educational settings. Focuses on the translation of research questions into research design, and how each aspect of the research design subtly shapes and reshapes the questions asked, and the "answers" obtained. By the end of the course, students should be capable of designing a study — or a series of experimental/quasi-experimental studies — to examine a research issue or question of interest to them or those they work with. This includes an evaluation of the pros and cons of various designs, determining a reasonable sample, selecting or designing a set of valid measures, and other related issues.

Prerequisites: EDFL 701, EDFL 703, EDFL 704 (or test out for doctoral students).

Focuses on problems of conceptualization, organization, and gathering non-experimental and quasi-experimental quantitative and qualitative data. Includes relationships between data, predictions, questionnaire construction, correlation and regression analysis, and sample selection.

Prerequisites: EDFL 701 (required for doctoral students), EDFL 703, EDFL 704 (or test out for doctoral students).

EDFL 708 Program Evaluation Research Designs

2 hours. Spring semester. Format: online. This course teaches the tools needed to evaluate the effectiveness of educational programs and policies. It assumes a basic familiarity with social science research methods and applies those methods to program evaluation. This course informs educational leaders in evaluation purpose, design, and methods for understanding the role of evaluation in program planning, implementation, and accountability. The course focuses on understanding the purposes of evaluation; the role of the evaluator; identification of questions; experimental, quasi-experimental, descriptive, and exploratory designs; indicators of effectiveness; qualitative and quantitative data sources; modes of analysis; presentation of evaluation results; and the role of evaluation conclusions in organizational decision making.

Prerequisites: EDFL 703, EDFL 704 (or test out for doctoral students), and either EDFL 701 or EDFL 702 (required for doctoral students).

EDFL 709 Ethnographic and Case Study Research Designs

2 hours. Spring semester. Format: classroom centered. This course is designed to develop conceptual and technical skills needed for designing and executing ethnographic research designs that can be implemented in classrooms, schools, and other educational settings. Focuses on the following skills: observing and recording behavior in natural settings; problem definition and focus; sampling; controlled comparisons and meaningful variation; designing single and multiple case studies; data storage and retrieval systems; and trustworthiness (reliability/validity) of ethnographic research. Topics may include classroom ethnography, advanced ethnographic writing and/or multimedia design, discourse analysis, and microethnography of social interaction.

Prerequisites: EDFL 703, EDFL 704 (or test out for doctoral students), and EDFL 702.

EDFL 710 Historical Research Designs

2 hours. Summer semester. Format: online. This course prepares students to use historical research tools for examining educational issues. History as a mode of inquiry will be a central element. While scholars in other fields can create their own evidence through experiment and observation, those who use historical research tools must rely upon clues left by others. The historian's challenge lies in unearthing evidence and knowing what questions to ask of the evidence. This course teaches students to identify and locate historical sources, to formulate historical claims on the basis of that evidence, and to interpret the possible significance of such claims in relation to existing historical knowledge. Focuses on both written and oral history.

Prerequisites: EDFL 692, EDFL 694, EDFL 702 (required for doctoral students), EDFL 703, EDFL 704 (or test out for doctoral students).

EDFL 711 Master's Project Proposal

1 hour. Fall, spring, and summer semesters. The master's research project involves three stages: completing a project proposal, conducting the project, and completing the project paper and oral presentation. This course is the first course in a three-course sequence that students enroll in to finalize a project proposal. Student works under the guidance of the student's faculty research committee chair to clarify a research topic, identify data sources, and prepare a written proposal.

Prerequisites: EDFL 703 and 704.

EDFL 712 Master's Project Research

1 hour. Fall, spring, and summer semesters. The master's research project involves three stages: completing a project proposal, conducting the project, and completing the project paper and oral presentation. This course is the second stage in the culminating activity for the Master of Education Program research project. Student works under the guidance of assigned faculty research committee to conduct a research project as approved by the committee. Prerequisite: EDFL 711.

EDFL 713 Master's Presentation

1 hour. Fall, spring, and summer semesters. The master's research project involves three stages: completing a project proposal, conducting the project, and completing the project paper and oral presentation. This course is the third stage in the culminating activity for the Master of Education Program research project. Student presents a written and oral presentation of the research project to faculty research committee and professional peers.

Prerequisite: EDFL 712.

EDFL 715 Master's Research II

1-4 hours. Research for and preparation of master's thesis or action research project. Required of master's-level students who did not complete their thesis or action research project in EDFL 712.

2 hours. Research for and preparation of doctoral dissertation.

Prerequisites: EDFL 700, 701, 702, and two research design courses.

EDFL 721 Dissertation Research

2 hours. Research for and preparation of doctoral dissertation.

Prerequisite: EDFL 720. Can be enrolled concurrently with EDFL 720 with the permission of the Doctor of Education Program director.

EDFL 722 Dissertation Research

Notes: Students in the research design courses (EDFL 702-710) will be expected to write research proposals appropriate to their degree level (action research, thesis, or dissertation).

Doctoral students may take a maximum of four hours of doctoral dissertation research hours in any semester.

CONTINUING TEACHING LICENSE SEMINARSECTL 591 Continuing Teaching License Seminar I

Students will provide oral and written reports to the organization and to the class.

George Fox Evangelical Seminary

Seminary Heritage

George Fox Evangelical Seminary is an evangelical, multi-denominational, university-based school committed to equipping women and men academically, spiritually, emotionally, theologically, and culturally for ministry in the church and world in the greater Northwest and beyond. We are committed to graduate theological education, professional development, and spiritual formation. We are dedicated to provide the church with the future leaders it seeks, to train leaders for the present and the future, to provide a place for those who seek to be on the forefront of church development and those who seek spiritual renewal, and to offer flexible schedules for busy people in an increasingly globalized society.

George Fox Evangelical Seminary began in 1947 as the Western School of Evangelical Religion. In 1951, it became Western Evangelical Seminary. The original campus was on the Evangelical Church conference grounds at Jennings Lodge, east of Portland. In 1993, the seminary moved to a new centrally located and more easily accessible campus near Interstate 5 and highways 99W and 217. In 1996, it merged with George Fox College to form George Fox University, and changed its name on January 1, 2000, to George Fox Evangelical Seminary. The site of the seminary is now the university's Portland Center.

The first students came from the founding denominations: the Evangelical Church and the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends. Soon the Free Methodist and Wesleyan churches lent their support. Today, more than 30 denominations are represented in the student body.

When the seminary began, it fulfilled the dream of its first president, Paul Petticord, and other regional Christian leaders, who recognized the need for a Wesleyan seminary in the Pacific Northwest. The ideal was set forth in an early catalog:

...to train men and women in the definite doctrines of faith set forth in the constitution and bylaws and to give them such definite guidance and training that they may go out into the world with a positive message of salvation possible only in Jesus Christ. Not only is this training to be scholastic, but deeply spiritual. Not only theoretical, but practical in the usage of necessary methods essential for this day and age. This training is to be given by professors who are of high scholarship and of practical abilities and experienced in winning the lost to a definite relationship in Christ.

George Fox Seminary faculty members come from a variety of evangelical backgrounds. They share a common commitment to sound scholarship, warmhearted personal faith, and effective pastoral practice that continues to characterize the seminary's approach to theological education.

The curriculum now includes not only the M.Div., the foundational degree for pastoral ministry, but also the M.A. in Christian ministries, a flexible, two-year program with specialized concentrations, designed for leaders in church and other ministry settings. The M.A.T.S. degree, with emphases in either Bible or theology/history, continues to serve those called to teaching or eventual doctoral study. The doctor of ministry degree, for experienced pastors who hold the M.Div. or its equivalent, is a cohort-style program with two tracks: Leadership and Spiritual Formation and Leadership in the Emerging Culture.

The Association of Theological Schools granted the seminary full accreditation in 2001. The Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges also certifies the seminary's programs. This dual accreditation is maintained now through George Fox University and assures students of the highest academic and professional standards.

Mission Statement

George Fox Evangelical Seminary demonstrates the meaning of Jesus Christ by offering spiritual formation and education for ministry in the context of a caring, Christian community, in order to prepare men and women of faith for effective service to the church and the world.

Distinctives of George Fox Evangelical Seminary

Christ-centered: Jesus Christ's life, death, and resurrection are central to our curriculum and the personal experience of the faculty. Jesus Christ influences our scholarship, teaching, and service. Our motivation is that the whole world might know the truth and love of Jesus Christ.

Church-focused: The seminary serves the Church by developing church leaders and preparing Christian scholars. The tasks of ministry and the character of the minister are as essential as knowledge of Scripture, theology, and church history. Therefore, the faculty is deeply involved in scholarship and in ministry in the local church, bringing fresh perspectives to the courses they teach.

Culturally relevant: The society in which our students serve is culturally diverse, postmodern, and postdenominational. The faculty understands this context and prepares students for effective ministry in a diverse world. Students are encouraged to confront and address the pressing issues of our world and to meet societal and personal needs in a responsively creative and culturally relevant way.

Spiritually intentional: Effective servant-leadership and scholarship require attentiveness to spiritual growth. The development of Christ's image in each student is foremost in our mission. Intentional spiritual formation is integrated into the entire seminary experience and focused in creative and traditional spiritual-formation courses and small groups.

Broadly evangelical: The seminary community reflects a diversity of age, gender, ethnicity, theological persuasion, and denominational background. Students learn in an environment that fully supports gender and racial equality in all aspects of leadership and ministry. The resulting seminary community provides a rich learning experience, helps students clarify their beliefs, and prepares them for appropriate ministry in their own denomination and in an increasingly multid denominational context.

Biblically based and historically grounded: Scripture is regarded as inspired and canonical, the supreme authority and guide in all matters of Christian doctrine and practice. Our curriculum grounds the student in the Scripture and in the history and theology of the Christian faith.

Technologically integrated: The seminary uses information technology to provide students with the best theological education possible and to help students prepare more effective strategies for ministry. Many courses are Web-enhanced and some are offered online. "Smart classrooms" provide a learning experience that models creative ministry through the use of technology.

Statement of Faith

The Trinity

We believe in one eternal God, the source and goal of life, who exists as three persons in the Trinity: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. In love and joy, God creates and sustains the universe, including humanity, male and female, who are made in God's image.

God the Father

We believe in God the Father Almighty, whose love is the foundation of salvation and righteous judgment, and who calls us into covenant relationship with God and with one another.

God the Son

We believe in Jesus Christ, the Word, who is fully God and fully human. He came to show us God and perfect humanity, and, through his life, death, and resurrection, to reconcile us to God. He is now actively present with us as Savior, Teacher, Lord, Healer, and Friend.

God the Holy Spirit

We believe in the Holy Spirit, who breathed God's message into the prophets and apostles, opens our eyes to God's Truth in Jesus Christ, empowers us for holy living, and carries on in us the work of salvation.

Salvation

We believe that salvation comes through Jesus Christ alone, to whom we must respond with repentance, faith, and obedience. Through Christ we come into a right relationship with God, our sins are forgiven, and we receive eternal life.

The Bible

We believe that God inspired the Bible and has given it to us as the uniquely authoritative, written guide for Christian living and thinking. As illumined by the Holy Spirit, the Scriptures are true and reliable. They point us to God, guide our lives, and nurture us toward spiritual maturity.

The Christian Life

We believe that God has called us to be and to make disciples of Jesus Christ and to be God's agents of love and reconciliation in the world. In keeping with the teaching of Jesus, we work to oppose violence and war, and we seek peace and justice in human relationships and social structures.

The Church

We believe in the church as the people of God, composed of all who believe in Jesus Christ, who support and equip each other through worship, teaching, and accountability, who model God's loving community, and who proclaim the gospel to the world.

Christian Worship

We believe Christ is present as we gather in his name, seeking to worship in spirit and in truth. All believers are joined in the one body of Christ, are baptized by the Spirit, and live in Christ's abiding presence.

Christian baptism and communion are spiritual realities, and, as Christians from many faith traditions, we celebrate these in different ways.

The Future

We believe in the personal return of Jesus Christ, in the resurrection of the dead, in God's judgment of all persons with perfect justice and mercy, and in eternal reward and punishment. Ultimately, Christ's kingdom will be victorious over all evil, and the faithful will reign with him in eternal life.

Memberships

The seminary holds memberships in organizations that enable us to fulfill our mission.

Association of Theological Schools

The Association of Theological Schools (ATS) is our accrediting agency. The seminary holds an Accredited Membership in the ATS.

The National Association of Evangelicals

The National Association of Evangelicals (NAE) extends the kingdom of God through a fellowship of member denominations, churches, organizations, and individuals, demonstrating the unity of the body of Christ by standing for biblical truth, speaking with a representative voice, and serving the evangelical community through united action, cooperative ministry, and strategic planning.

with goals of educating, training, mentoring, and equipping those who have been called to leadership in the Friends Church in the Northwest and beyond.

In addition to supporting the regular degree programs of the seminary with Friends-specific courses, the center provides seminar, workshop, conference, and individual-study courses for Friends students as well as leaders already serving in local congregations. The director is available on the seminary campus to informally mentor and consult with students and to gather Friends students together for worship, reflection on their course work, and the chance to dialogue with one another about ministry in the local church.

Information and Technology

Personal spiritual formation and the acquisition of professional ministry skills are at the heart of the seminary's mission. As the world has moved into an information age, skills in information literacy and technological competence are important for professional ministry. We are doing several things to prepare for ministry in the information age:

Grounding in Information Literacy

A person who is "information literate":

- Knows when information is needed
 - Knows how to formulate an effective search strategy
 - Knows how to access information
 - Knows how to evaluate information he or she has accessed
 - Knows how to incorporate information into his or her work
- Students will find that course objectives will require them to strengthen their general information literacy.

Participation in a Technologically Enriched Environment

A Lilly-Endowment grant has brought new technology resources to the classroom instruction of seminary students. "Smart classrooms" (classrooms equipped with computer projection equipment with full multimedia capability and access to all network and Internet resources) enrich the in-class experience. Course Web sites and online access to licensed databases and library resources enable ongoing work and vibrant exchanges among students and faculty between class sessions. Faculty members have also strengthened their skills in the effective use of technology in teaching, and students often serve as interns and teaching assistants.

Exposure to Critical Software Tools

Faculty members are committed to orienting students to the critical software tools most relevant to their future ministries: personal-productivity software, Bible-research software, church-management software, and other helpful applications.

Access to Online Licensed Databases

All students have online access to valuable databases for study and research: ATLAS Religion Index, Academic Search Premier, PsycInfo, Sociological Abstracts, ERIC, and Dissertation Abstracts are a few of the more than 50 discipline-specific databases available. Students have access to the full text of the top theological journals of the past 50 years. Students can access these at the library or from home via the Internet through the George Fox University Proxy Server.

Resources for Advanced Study

Encounters with historical and contemporary texts in theology and religion are an integral part of a seminary education. The Portland Center Library houses 75,000 volumes of the university's 220,000-item collection. In addition, local and regional consortia provide daily delivery from their combined collections of more than 12 million books. Interlibrary loans from a reserve of an additional 28 million items ensure that faculty and students have access to the variety of voices that speak to theological issues.

Participation in Electronically Enhanced Courses

Many of the seminary's courses are "electronically enhanced." A course that is electronically enhanced has a live class period once a week and an interactive Web site that directs the remainder of the work for the week (between 6 and 7.5 hours). Students at a distance do not need to be in class every day, but can come once or twice a week and do the rest of their work online.

Access to Computer Labs

The Portland Center has a well-equipped computer lab with full software, e-mail, and Internet access. The lab is open six days a week.

Online Information About the Seminary

The seminary maintains a Web site at seminary.georgefox.edu. The site provides information about degrees and certificates, departments, faculty, admission, and library resources, as well as a campus tour and history of the seminary.

Community Life

Spiritual Life

The seminary is committed to the spiritual formation and academic success of students. The mission of the seminary is intentionally to foster the spiritual formation of the seminary community so that God is glorified and the incarnational presence of Christ is evidenced in daily living. Spiritual formation is the maturation of God's fullness within the individual and the community and leads to wholeness in all relationships.

The seminary community fosters spiritual formation by promoting:

1. A community spirit of fellowship and support
2. A disciplined life of prayer and devotional habits

3. A deepening surrender to God in faith and to others in service

To fulfill this mission, the seminary endeavors to have a comprehensive spiritual-life program. The program is designed to engage students in formational experiences throughout their time in seminary. The spiritual-formation curriculum has a variety of core courses and specialty courses designed to stimulate personal transformational growth. A component of every spiritual-formation course is a supportive small-group experience.

Spiritual-Formation Curriculum

Ultimately, a program of spiritual life must embrace all of the curriculum at the seminary. Biblical literature fosters understanding and appropriation of the primary resources for spiritual growth. Christian history develops an appreciation of heritage and perspective. Christian theology challenges the student to integrate historical truth and contemporary life. Pastoral studies focus the attention of Christ's servants on the church and the tasks of ministry. The spiritual-life curriculum specifically seeks to integrate the student's academic preparation with spiritual growth and to acquaint the student with the great literature of the spiritual life.

Prayer

Prayer is a vital aspect of the Christian life that too often suffers from neglect in Western society. Yet strong ministries, strong congregations, and a strong church cannot be built without persistent, fervent prayer.

It is often the case that the formal study of the faith at seminary squeezes out private devotion to God. The seminary determines to make prayer and consistent devotional life part of the fabric of the seminary student's life experience. Private devotions are encouraged, and support is readily available to those who seek guidance. Time is often taken in class to pray. Further, a prayer chapel is available for use at any time during the day.

Community Development

Community is developed within the seminary in various ways. Catered lunches and dinners are available for purchase at the Portland Center on Mondays and Thursdays. A refrigerator and microwave are provided for students to bring meals from home and eat together on campus. Professors encourage community in their classes by assigning group projects, giving students ownership in class processes, and providing times of fellowship for their students both in the classroom and out. Occasionally, the seminary community has picnics or get-togethers off campus, where students and their families have the opportunity to gather with other students and with faculty in informal contexts. From time to time, students and faculty take initiative to provide worship opportunities to the community, as well.

Assessment

The preparation of women and men for ministry requires us to engage the entire person — cognitive and affective, personal and professional. This means that GPAs do not tell the whole story about a student's preparedness for a program at seminary, nor do they tell the whole story about their preparedness for work in their chosen area of ministry when they leave seminary. Helping students to understand their temperament and relational skills may be as crucial to their success in ministry as helping them master a body of knowledge. Because of this, assessment of students must address more than just the cognitive aspects of their development.

The seminary conducts two assessments for students. The first is carried out after one semester of study and assesses the student's potential for success in seminary study. The second is candidacy, which is conducted at the midpoint of their study. At this assessment, the faculty members are better able to address the nature of the student's calling, gifts, and abilities.

During these times of assessment, several possible outcomes may be determined. A detailed description of these outcomes is found in the Student Assessment Plan. These times of assessment provide opportunity to affirm the gifts of students and to guide them in a direction that will maximize their time of study according to their gifting and their calling.

Scheduling

The seminary offers courses in a unique rotating block schedule. The large majority of the seminary's three-credit courses are taught in three-hour "blocks" on Mondays and Thursdays. Each day has three blocks, one each in the morning, afternoon, and evening. From year to year, courses "rotate" to different blocks. For example, a course offered on Monday morning one year will be offered on Thursday afternoon the next year. For the student, that means that if the student commits to certain blocks, eventually all the needed courses will rotate to that block. The greatest flexibility in scheduling is gained by being available to all six blocks. However, if a student commits consistently to three or four blocks, he or she will find that almost the entire curriculum will come to them in two years. The one-credit spiritual-formation courses have their own rotation and are offered in late afternoon and early evening blocks on Mondays and Thursdays.

Seminary Degrees and Courses

Doctor of Ministry Program Overview

(D.Min. Degree)

Program Objectives

The doctor of ministry (D.Min.) is the highest professional degree for those in parish or related ministries. It is designed for educated, experienced practitioners who desire to stimulate renewal in themselves and in their ministries through advanced training, reflection, and study. The doctor of ministry is designed to engage ministry professionals in the integration of their experience with new knowledge, research, and reflection.

The primary goals of the degree are to give students:

1. A better understanding of their spirituality and how to implement a program for ongoing spiritual growth and personal and professional renewal
2. A better understanding of the fundamental principles and dynamics of leadership and what leadership style best suits their gifts and personality

3. Increased competence in utilizing the tools from biblical studies, theology, and philosophy to develop and implement effective ministry strategies
4. Increased competence in the application of current thinking and resources to congregational leadership, preaching and worship, spiritual direction, and pastoral care
5. Increased competence in church-management skills, strategic planning, and leadership development
6. Increased competence in identifying problem areas in a given ministry and devising and implementing a specific course of action by which to effectively address those areas

Admission Requirements

What distinguishes the D.Min. from academic doctorates such as the Ph.D., Th.D., and S.T.D. is that its primary focus is on the practice of ministry. The D.Min. is also distinctive from other professional degrees such as the Ed.D. and the Psy.D. in that it builds on the three-year master of divinity (M.Div.) and at least three years of post-M.Div. ministry experience.

To be admitted to the D.Min. program a person must:

1. Possess an ATS-accredited M.Div. degree with a minimum GPA of 3.0 as verified by the submission of an official transcript, or meet the seminary's M.Div.-equivalency requirements (see below)
2. Document full-time participation in ministry for at least three years after the completion of the M.Div. degree, including a written endorsement of the applicant's admission to the D.Min. program from his or her church or parachurch organization
3. Submit a written statement of his or her ministerial goals, personal history, leadership experience, and recent reading
4. Submit vitae or résumé
5. Submit three letters of reference
6. Complete an interview with the D.Min. Committee

If English is a second language for the applicant, he or she must also demonstrate proficiency in the English language through a score of at least 550 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

Equivalency Procedures

An applicant who holds a master's degree but does not hold the M.Div. degree from an ATS-accredited seminary may qualify for admission to the D.Min. program by meeting the requirements for M.Div. equivalency.

The 96-semester-hour M.Div. program at the seminary, as outlined below, serves as a guide for assessing equivalency:

	Semester Hours
Biblical Studies	24
Christian History and Thought	18
Pastoral Studies	30

Spiritual Formation and Discipleship	7
Major requirements or electives	17

1. The applicant must submit official transcripts of all graduate work.
2. The D.Min. program director then reviews the transcripts to assess their correspondence to the M.Div. at the seminary and make recommendations concerning the applicant's equivalency status to the D.Min. Committee, which has final authority on admission.
3. Applicants needing extra graduate-level course work to attain equivalency status may be admitted to the program with the stipulation that the appropriate course work be completed before enrollment in Module Three of the program. This course work must be taken from an ATS-accredited seminary. Course grade points must average a minimum of 3.0.

Transfer of Credit

Due to the nature of the program, there is no transfer of credit for the D.Min. degree from other graduate programs or any other seminary, college, or university.

Time Limitations

A maximum of 16 semester hours of course work may be completed during one calendar year, requiring a minimum of two years for the completion of the course work. The dissertation may be completed in the third year.

The maximum time allowed for completion of the D.Min. program is six years from the time of enrollment. Extensions beyond this deadline may be granted at the discretion of the D.Min. Committee in response to requests received prior to the conclusion of the sixth year, citing extenuating circumstances and specifying an expected date of completion.

Leave of Absence

Because of the cohort model used for this D.Min. program, students are expected to maintain full attendance throughout each module experience. However, a student in good standing who must interrupt his or her studies for compelling reasons may petition the D.Min. Committee for a leave of absence of not more than two years. Students who discontinue enrollment without an official leave of absence may be required to apply for readmission.

Degree Requirements

The doctor of ministry degree (D.Min.) requires the satisfactory completion of the following:

- All required courses, 36 semester hours total. These hours include:
32 hours of course work
4 hours of dissertation
- All guided retreats or advances
- Additional M.Div. equivalency courses, as may be required

- Acceptance by the faculty for degree candidacy
- Defense of doctoral dissertation
- Recommendation by the seminary faculty for graduation from George Fox University

1. Maintain a minimum GPA of 3.0 with no course grade lower than a B-
2. Submit a topic for the final dissertation and gain approval from the primary advisor
3. Complete all leveling work (if applicable)

When these steps have been completed, the D.Min. program director will present a report and recommendation to the resident D.Min. faculty for consideration of the student's qualifications for candidacy. Students advanced to candidacy continue in the program. Students not advanced to candidacy are given specific guidelines for reevaluation.

The doctor of ministry office will notify students of their status following the second year of the program.

The Dissertation

To complete the D.Min. program, a dissertation is required. This project involves research and writing at both the theoretical and practical levels and serves to evaluate the student's competency in a specialized area of ministry related to his or her personal experience and interest.

In the research orientation courses and through the support of a dissertation advisor, each student receives guidance in choosing a research topic and preparing a proposal for the dissertation. As a prerequisite to candidacy, the student's proposal is submitted to the D.Min. Committee for approval.

When the dissertation is complete, the candidate submits the dissertation to two readers: the faculty mentor and another reader selected by the D.Min. Committee at the time the project proposal is approved. As part of the evaluation, the candidate must give an oral defense of the dissertation before the readers.

Doctor of Ministry in Leadership in the Emerging Culture

Program Summary

The delivery system of the doctor of ministry track in leadership in the emerging culture (D.Min. LEC) includes participation in several seminars and conferences offered through major teaching churches around the country and abroad; personal mentoring by select faculty advisors; online interactivity with cohort members and professors; three "advance" experiences; as well as reading, reflection, research, and writing.

Students select the specific conferences in light of their educational and vocational goals and in consultation with their faculty advisors. Students then draft a learning plan for each semester that customizes assignments around their experiences and maximizes the realization of their educational goals. The lead mentor and faculty advisors oversee the process and engage students both individually and collectively through asynchronous discussion postings, e-mails, and weekly real-time group meetings via the course Web site.

The amount of collateral work beyond attendance at conferences and seminars is governed by several factors:

- The "seat time" involved in the event itself
- The amount of work completed in conjunction with the event itself
- Other activities and assignments associated with the semester in which academic credit is calculated for a given conference or seminar

Students are responsible for all costs associated with transportation, conference registrations, conference housing, books, and technology support.

Required course work is to be completed over a two-year period, and a doctoral dissertation will be written in the third year. Students begin the program by attending an orientation retreat that commences at the George Fox University Portland Center and concludes at a local retreat center. Students complete two learning plans and attend two conferences or seminars per year, complete DMIN 513 and DMIN 523 in the first year and DMIN 533 and DMIN 543 in the second year, attend summer advances in years one and two, engage with their fellow students and the lead mentor in several online venues named above, complete all reading, writing, and practical assignments, and produce a doctoral dissertation and project (optional) during the third year. Between the first and second year, students are paired with a project advisor who will guide them in the process of research, development, and writing of the doctoral dissertation and production of a project (optional).

Additionally, students are required to have at least one cross-cultural experience, either in the form of attending a conference or seminar abroad or by attending an event hosted by a group of another cultural or ethnic tradition.

A total of 32 semester hours must be completed within six sequential semesters, starting with the fall semester of year one and ending with the summer semester of year two.

Candidacy

The Doctoral Dissertation and Project

To complete the D.Min. program, a doctoral dissertation is required. This task involves research and writing at both the theoretical and practical levels and serves to evaluate the student's competency in a specialized area of ministry related to his or her personal experience and interest.

In the research orientation courses and through the support of a project advisor, each student receives guidance in choosing a research topic and preparing a proposal for the doctoral dissertation. As a prerequisite to candidacy, the student's proposal is submitted to the D.Min. Committee for approval.

Additionally, students may produce a project wherein the proposed solution delineated in the doctoral dissertation is implemented. The project incarnates a practical, real-world solution to the stated ministry problem utilizing at least two of the following media forms: video, audio, Internet, and text. Completing a project is optional.

When the doctoral dissertation and project (optional) are complete the candidate submits them to two readers: the faculty advisor and another reader selected by the D.Min. Committee at the time the project proposal is approved. As part of the evaluation, the candidate must give an oral defense of the doctoral dissertation and project (optional) before the readers.

Clinical Pastoral Education

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) brings seminary students into supervised ministry with people in crises. The heart of CPE is ministry with people and learning from that ministry through reflection, discussion, and evaluation with other students and a certified CPE supervisor. CPE training centers are usually located in hospitals and medical centers. George Fox Evangelical Seminary is a member of the Association of Clinical Pastoral Education. Therefore, any seminary student in the M.Div. degree program may choose to do his or her internship in a CPE setting. Students pay regular seminary tuition for seminary credits awarded for CPE units. However, students may be eligible to be reimbursed for the cost of CPE units. Reimbursement is limited to 75 percent of the seminary tuition paid for the credits awarded for CPE experience. Students can apply for reimbursement by submitting receipts upon successful completion of the CPE program. Students who feel called to hospital chaplaincy would take the following recommended path at George Fox Evangelical Seminary:

Hospital Chaplaincy Path:

1. Acceptance into the M.Div. degree program (some hospitals are beginning to accept people with seminary M.A. degrees as chaplains, but the M.Div. is preferred).
2. Completion of a unit of CPE training at an approved training site. A chaplaincy student would take PSTD 565 CPE training (6 hours). These are typically offered in two formats:
 - a. Summer 11-week intensive = 1 unit (100 hours of structured group and training and 300 hours of clinical practice — stipend offered by some hospitals)
 - b. Fall — spring extended program = .5 unit each semester (100 hours of structured group and training and some clinical practice — no stipend)
3. Ordination or a certificate of ministry from the person's denomination.

4. After completion of the M.Div., the individual would apply for a year of residency at an approved CPE training hospital. These are full-time paid positions for which the individual completes an additional 3 units of CPE. The seminary CPE director keeps a file of residency positions available. Application should be made one year before desired placement.
5. After fulfilling the requirements of the Association of Professional Chaplains, the individual would apply for certification. Students are encouraged to become student members of APC.
6. The seminary CPE director keeps a file of chaplaincy position openings.

M.Div. Curriculum for Hospital Chaplaincy Students:

1. All the normal curriculum requirements for the M.Div. degree.
2. Internship requirement would be PSTD 565 CPE unit one (6 hours). The student would not take PSTD 575 Pastoral Internship.
3. Students may substitute CMIN 520 Communication in Christian Ministry for PSTD 510 Essentials of Preaching.
4. A student coming to the seminary with previous CPE units may be awarded up to a maximum of 9 credits.

Registering for PSTD 565 Clinical Pastoral Education:

Students should apply for acceptance into an approved CPE center one year ahead of their desired internship date. In Oregon there are four centers: Legacy Health System, Oregon State Hospital, Providence/Portland Medical Center, and Veterans Affairs Medical Center. The ACPE directory with information concerning the centers, the contact persons, and application processes is available from the seminary faculty CPE director. The student contacts the CPE coordinator at the preferred site, fills out an application, and pays the application fee. Once the student is accepted, he/she would register for PSTD 565. Unit one of CPE is equal to 6 semester credits. CPE courses are graded Pass/No Pass. Upon completion of the training, the student submits the final supervision report to the seminary faculty director in order to record the course grade.

Military Chaplaincy

Those who feel called to military chaplaincy should contact the branch of service in which they desire to serve. The chaplain representative for the area will acquaint you with the scholarships, requirements, and steps toward accomplishing this objective. Master of Arts (Theological Studies)

(M.A.T.S. Degree)

Program Objectives

The vision of the faculty in the Master of Arts (Theological Studies) Program is to provide a forum where the student will:

1. Gain knowledge appropriate to the field of specialization
2. Grow in the ability to analyze pertinent texts and materials
3. Develop the capacity to think critically
4. Learn research, writing, and communication skills
5. Prepare for future degree work

Degree Requirements

The Master of Arts (Theological Studies) Program is designed for men and women who desire graduate study in the field of theological studies with an emphasis in:

- Biblical studies
- Christian history and theology
- Integrated studies (allowing a combination)

This is not intended as a pastoral degree program. Following are the requirements for the M.A.T.S. degree:

- Satisfactorily complete a minimum of 64 semester hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or above within five years after advancement to candidacy.
- Meet all requirements for degree candidacy. In all cases, this will include a personal interview with the seminary faculty.
- Be recommended by the seminary faculty for graduation from George Fox University.

Language Requirement (Biblical Studies Concentration)

Students in this concentration will be introduced to the biblical languages through BIST 511 Introducing Biblical Hebrew and BIST 521 Introducing New Testament Greek. The student will elect to focus further study on at least one of the two languages by taking either BIST 512 Interpreting the Hebrew Testament or BIST 522 Interpreting the Greek Testament. The student who chooses to focus on Hebrew will take the Hebrew sequence in the first year and the introductory Greek course in the fall of the second year. Likewise, the student who chooses to focus on Greek will take the Greek sequence the first year and the introductory Hebrew course in the fall of the second year. The student may elect to complete both sequences to gain proficiency in the study of both testaments.

Thesis Requirement

Graduate research is a serious academic inquiry into a selected area of study with a view to obtaining information hitherto unknown to the researcher. The researcher must then present the results of this inquiry in acceptable written form for the benefit of other readers. The values of this phase of the student's total preparation for life's work are as follows:

1. To discourage the practice of making hasty generalizations based upon insufficient evidence
2. To encourage thoroughness of study and research in preparation for the varied tasks faced by the practitioner
3. To develop expertise in research and in formalizing research findings

General Requirements

1. In order to begin the thesis, a student must have completed 26 semester hours in an M.A. degree program or 54 semester hours in the M.Div. program. Graduate research requires a substantial foundation of course work in the field to be investigated.
2. Students must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 to be eligible to write a thesis.
3. With approval of the academic advisor, the student will register for BIST 571/572 or CHTH 571/572 Research/Thesis for two consecutive semesters (may include summer term).
4. In consultation with the M.A.T.S. director, each student will choose two faculty research advisors/readers. The primary advisor should be a member of the seminary faculty and will have primary responsibility for overseeing thesis work. The M.A.T.S. director will normally be the second advisor/reader (unless already selected as primary advisor), though the second reader may instead be chosen from outside the seminary faculty. The second reader is responsible to provide a second voice as to the quality of the finished thesis, and may be selected from outside the seminary faculty contingent upon approval by the M.A.T.S. director. The M.A.T.S. director will be available to the student for matters related to thesis research and writing.
5. M.A.T.S. theses (75-100 pages in length) should demonstrate the ability to
 - o Formulate and research a specific problem
 - o Master a well-defined issue in academic study
 - o Interact equitably with other scholars and positions
 - o Write in a clear manner consistent with scholarly standards
6. In order to be accepted into the graduate thesis program, a student must submit an acceptable proposal to the department faculty. The proposal should reflect the fact that the student already has consulted with the research advisor, adequately defined and limited the proposed area of inquiry or need, structured a method of inquiry or solution, and conducted preliminary research to determine the availability of bibliographic and other resources. For deadlines, see the schedule provided below. Specific requirements for the proposal will be laid out in the syllabus for BIST/CHTH 571/572. Upon approval of the proposal, a signed and dated form will be returned to the student.

7. All work submitted, from proposal to final draft, must adhere to the form and style guidelines as described in the most recent edition of Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations.
8. A thesis requires a one-hour oral defense before the primary research advisor and the second reader. Notice of the defense will be given to the student and appropriate department faculty at least one week in advance.
9. Following the defense, the student must complete any additions or changes requested by the faculty research advisor and second reader. Final copies must be submitted in letter-quality type, in black ink. Two copies of the final version must be turned in on paper with at least a 75 percent rag content. These are formal, archival library copies, and are due the last day of classes. Personal copies for binding may also be submitted at this time (see binding fees in syllabus).
10. Each copy of the final thesis must have an original (not photocopied) approval sheet signed by the primary faculty research advisor and the second reader.
11. Duplicate copies should be made of all work, including rough draft and bibliography, to protect against inadvertent loss of materials.
12. Grading policy: All thesis projects will receive a letter grade.

Suggested Schedule*

Following an initial consultation with the faculty research advisor and subsequent library research, students should carefully observe the following deadlines.

Task	Beginning Fall Semester	Beginning Spring Semester	Beginning Summer Semester*
First draft of proposal due to faculty research advisor	mid-October	mid-February	beginning of July
Proposal presented for faculty approval	mid-November	mid-March	early August
Research and writing	November-March	March-November	August-November
Completion of first draft	mid-March	early November	early November
Submission of final thesis	beginning of April	late November	late November
Oral defense before faculty advisor and second reader	1st half of April	late Nov. - early Dec.	late Nov. - early Dec.
Deadline for the submission of archival copies (2) of the thesis	one week prior to spring semester end	one week prior to fall semester end	one week prior to fall semester end

* Those beginning in summer may be allowed to extend submission dates into the following spring semester. If needed and approved by the instructor for BIST/CHTH 571/572, thesis writers may be granted one additional semester for completion of the thesis without grade penalty. In this case the student must register for BIST/CHTH 575 (Thesis Continuation, 1 hour) for this third semester.

1. Administer and evaluate existing ministries, programs, and systems within a Christian community
2. Initiate new ministries and programs based on a biblical and theological framework
3. Articulate and employ a philosophy of ministry that is holistic, respectful and inclusive of all people, and biblical

Degree Description and Uniqueness

The M.A. in Christian ministries is unique in the following ways:

1. It requires core courses that are philosophic and historical in nature while practical, reflective, and considerate of the current demands of Christian ministry.
2. It requires biblical, theological, and spiritual-formation courses, which students must integrate into practical ministry and use as a basis for thinking about, creating, and understanding Christian ministry.
3. It allows students to participate in the creation of their course of study by offering various concentrations and elective courses to equip them for specific areas of ministry.

4. It requires an internship in which the student will apply previously learned theory, participate in carefully supervised ministry, and develop a method of reflecting theologically on the practice of Christian leadership.

This degree is designed to educate and nurture men and women as Christian ministers and human beings in areas of integrity, attitude, interpersonal relationships, spirituality, discipline, and vision. The degree is aimed at enhancing the student's commitment to lifelong ministry, professionalism, lifelong learning, and reflection skills that will be practiced in solitude and in community.

The Christian ministries degree offers the following concentrations:

- Church leadership
- Spiritual formation

Degree Requirements

The curriculum is designed to equip men and women for a variety of occupations in Christian ministry. A student looking forward to certification by a denomination or parachurch organization must secure recommendation from the desired institution and fulfill the expected procedures and competencies required for the desired certification. The seminary assumes no responsibility of this nature. The M.A. in Christian ministries does not substitute for a master of divinity degree in preparation for pastoral ministry. The requirements for the M.A. in Christian ministries are as follows:

1. Satisfactory completion of a minimum of 64 semester hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or above.
2. Meeting all requirements for degree candidacy. In all cases, candidacy will include a personal interview, the submission of written work, and evaluation by the seminary faculty.

It may be taught in conjunction with BIST 515 OT Book Study in Hebrew or 525 NT Book Study in Greek. BIST 505 must be chosen by

Then, it moves to a survey of the content and message of the Torah and the Former Prophets (Joshua to 2 Kings). We deal with introductory matters (e.g., authorship, dating, occasion, unity) as well as issues of purpose and theology. BIST 506 is a prerequisite for BIST 507.

BIST 507 Old Testament II (Latter Prophets and Writings)

Prerequisite: BIST 506 Old Testament I (Torah and Former Prophets).

BIST 508 New Testament I (Gospels and Acts)

3 hours. This course familiarizes students with the content and structure, distinctive theology, and introductory matters (e.g., date, authorship, occasion) of the four NT Gospels and the book of Acts. Attention will be given to methods of interpretation of these texts, and use will be made of a synopsis of the Gospels. Together with NT II (Romans - Revelation), the course provides students with a solid grasp of the NT canon, with particular attention given to its use in ministry. (BIST 508 and BIST 509 need not be taken sequentially.)

BIST 509 New Testament II (Romans - Revelation)

3 hours. This course familiarizes students with the content, structure, theology, and introductory matters (e.g., date, authorship, genre) related to Romans through Revelation. Attention will be given to the social-historical setting of early Christianity and its usefulness in understanding these texts. Together with NT I (Gospels and Acts), the course provides students with a solid grasp of the NT canon, with particular attention given to its use in ministry. (BIST 508 and BIST 509 need not be taken sequentially.)

BIST 511 Introducing Biblical Hebrew

3 hours. The first course in the Hebrew language sequence, this course begins with the study of the Hebrew alphabet and vowel points and moves on to study the structure of the Hebrew noun and verb systems and syntactical features. Hebrew language and exegetical tools in both hard-copy and electronic formats are introduced.

BIST 512 Interpreting the Hebrew Testament

3 hours. The second course in the Hebrew language sequence, this class completes a basic study of Hebrew morphology, syntax, and vocabulary. Students gain facility in reading basic and advanced narrative and elementary poetry. Exegesis in the original language is explored. Students also are introduced to advanced original-language computer tools for Bible research and their use.

Prerequisite: BIST 511 Introducing Biblical Hebrew.

BIST 515 Old Testament Book Study in Hebrew

3 hours. Hebrew text book studies apply principles of hermeneutics and exegesis to original Hebrew texts.

Prerequisite: BIST 512 Interpreting the Hebrew Testament.

BIST 521 Introducing New Testament Greek

3 hours. An introduction to New Testament Greek in which the student is exposed to the basic principles of New Testament Greek grammar, syntax, and exegesis, to the Greek text of the New Testament, and to the major tools used in its study. While the basics of Greek have to be the center of focus in this introductory course, attention also is given to the Greek text of the New Testament.

BIST 522 Interpreting the Greek Testament

3 hours. This continuation of BIST 521 adds to the student's knowledge and understanding of New Testament Greek through further exposure to the Greek text of the New Testament. While it pays close attention to matters of grammar, the central focus is the text itself, its interpretation, and its use.

Prerequisite: BIST 521 Introducing New Testament Greek.

BIST 525 New Testament Book Study in Greek

3 hours. Greek text book studies apply principles of hermeneutics and exegesis to original Greek texts.

Prerequisite: BIST 522 Interpreting the Greek Testament or its equivalent.

BIST 530 Septuagint

3 hours. A course of readings in the Septuagint (LXX), mostly in passages that are quoted or alluded to in the New Testament, but with exposure also to one of the books of the Old Testament Apocrypha.

Prerequisite: BIST 522 Interpreting the Greek Testament.

BIST 542 Biblical Theology

3 hours. This course explores the message and theology of important texts, blocks of texts, books, and corpora in the Bible. Students gain greater skill in advanced Bible-study method. We also deal with relating the theology of the Bible to contemporary issues.

BIST 543 Biblical Exegesis and Hermeneutics

3 hours. This course familiarizes students with tools and methods for interpreting biblical texts and provides the foundation for a lifelong, careful study of the Bible. A comprehensive methodology will be learned and applied to different genres of literature, e.g., historical narrative, psalms, epistles, and apocalyptic. Since exegesis is an "art" that can be learned only by practice, class emphasis will be on "doing" exegesis; i.e., the class will take on a "workshop" format. Academic Policies

The following information applies to undergraduate School of Professional Studies (SPS) and all graduate students attending George Fox University. If a policy is specific to a SPS, graduate, or seminary program, it will be noted. Programs of George Fox University may have their own policies related to enrollment and academic requirements. Students should consult their program's directors or guide with regard to specific policies.

Academic Sessions and Credits

The academic year at George Fox University is divided into two semesters of 15 weeks. In addition, the university operates a summer session that is integral to all graduate programs offered by the university.

In addition to traditional course formats, some courses are offered online, or partially online (Internet enhanced). The SPS, M.A.T., M.A.O.L., and D.Min. programs are offered through a cohort model in which small groups of students attend class together through the entire program.

The unit of credit is the semester hour, which traditionally is granted for the successful completion of a course meeting 50 minutes per week for one semester. Credit for all courses is indicated in semester hours. All student requirements, advancements, and classifications are based on these units.

Attendance

The responsibility rests with the student to maintain standards of satisfactory scholarship. Regular class attendance is expected of each student in all courses. Specific consequences of class absences are included in the program guide or syllabus for each course. Students are never "excused" from their course work because of absences, and students are advised to notify professors of absences in advance whenever possible. Professors may request that students provide documentation of reasons for absence before allowing the student to make up work. Documentation includes the following:

- Prolonged illness – Students are to visit Health and Counseling Services or their personal physician to obtain verification of the illness.
- Family emergencies – Students need to be able to provide documentation of the emergency.

The university academic calendar provides the instructional dates for all programs. Students are expected to attend classes through the last day of each semester unless illness or an emergency situation exists.

No student will be received after the first academic week of any semester except by approval of the dean and registrar. Classes missed because of late registration will be regarded the same as an absence.

Classification of Students

Full-Time Status

Full-time student status in all graduate (including seminary) degree programs is 8 semester hours. A student need not maintain full-time status, but should be aware of the continuous enrollment policy and that financial aid programs are usually limited to those enrolled at least half time, which is 4 to 7 hours per semester. Some financial aid programs are limited to those enrolled full time. Only full-time students may represent the university in an official capacity or may hold a major office in an organization.

Regular Students

Students who have satisfied entrance requirements and are following a program leading to a degree are called regular students. They are classified as follows:

- Juniors: students enrolled in a bachelor program who have completed 62 semester hours
- Seniors: students enrolled in a bachelor program who have completed 93 semester hours

- Graduate: students enrolled in a master or doctoral program who generally have a B.A. or B.S. degree from a regionally accredited college or university

Special Students

“Special student” is the term used for either of the following:

1. A student who is not seeking a George Fox University degree. This student is taking courses for personal enrichment or professional certification.
2. A student who is interested in pursuing a George Fox University degree but has not been formally admitted to graduate study. Any special student wishing to enter a degree program must fulfill regular admission requirements and be admitted. Special student enrollment does not guarantee subsequent admission to any graduate program/department. A maximum of 10 hours taken as a special student may apply to a degree program.

Special students may be required to receive permission from the director, or chair, of the program prior to enrolling in courses. Some graduate programs limit the number of hours a special student may take or require approval.

Because of the format of the SPS, M.A.T., M.B.A., M.A.O.L., and D.Min. programs, attendance as a special student is not permitted. The Graduate School of Clinical Psychology chairperson must approve attendance in the Psy.D. program for special, nonadmitted students.

Applicants are required to pay the nonrefundable $40 special student application fee, and tuition is based on the current per-credit-hour rate.

Probation and Provisional Students

A student whose cumulative GPA falls below the level established for satisfactory academic progress (see Satisfactory Academic Progress and Eligibility) will be classified as a probation student. A student placed on probation status may continue to receive financial aid, subject to financial aid policies. An applicant who does not meet expectations for admission may be admitted as a provisional student. A provisional student will not be advanced to regular status until these requirements are satisfied. Some programs may limit the number of hours for which a provisional student may enroll.

Auditors

Subject to instructor and/or program director and/or chair approval, any regular or special student may audit courses from which he or she wishes to derive benefit without fulfilling credit requirements. Auditors are not permitted in some programs because of the cohort model and program requirements. Additionally, prerequisite course requirements must be met before approval to audit will be granted. This must be established with the registrar at time of registration. Class attendance standards are to be met.

Registration

The Office of the Registrar maintains student registration for classes, degree audit information, and grades. Students may change their academic majors and advisors and order transcripts through this office.

All students are expected to register online, within the time period designated on the university calendar and to begin classes on the first day. In addition, each student should be aware of the regulations that appear under Course Numbering System.

Services to Disabled Students

Instructional assistance for disabled students is available through the learning laboratory. Where necessary, course requirements are reasonably adjusted based on students' requests and appropriate documentation.

Disabled students needing accommodations in their program or living situation should contact the director of the Academic Resource Center and Disability Services, 503-554-2314, well in advance of attendance, so that specific attention can be made to assist in providing living arrangements and learning accommodations. More information is available at georgefox.edu/offices/disab_services.

Academic Advising

Faculty advisors are assigned to most entering students by the director, or chair, of the program to which the student is admitted. Generally, only regular faculty serve as advisors. Where possible, accommodation is made for matching students with faculty in their primary field of study or who are their personal preference. However, advisee loads and other considerations may dictate student-advisor assignments.

Generally, students must meet with their faculty advisor prior to registration to discuss their course load and obtain approval for courses selected. While it is the final responsibility of the student to ensure the appropriate courses are taken, the faculty advisor assists in this process. The faculty advisor's permission is generally required before any online registration or registration changes may be made. The faculty advisor or program director will verify all course requirements have been satisfied prior to graduation.

Academic Load

The student's load will be determined in conference with the student's advisor. No student may enroll for more than 17 hours, except by special permission of the program director, faculty advisor, and the registrar.

Registration Changes (Add/Drop)

Registration changes (add or drop) may be made online with advisor permission. The last day to add or drop courses or to exercise a pass/no pass option is established in the academic calendar. Adds and drops are not permitted for cohort programs.

Course Withdraw

A student wanting to withdraw from a class (without withdrawing from the university) must complete a course withdraw form available from the registrar's office (Newberg, Portland Center, Boise Center, and Salem Center). Failure to submit the form with approvals will result in an F grade recorded for all courses involved. There is a fee of $10 for a course withdraw.

Withdraw from a course (with a W grade) must be completed within the date established in the academic calendar. Beyond this date, an academic petition is required, and cause (emergency conditions) must be established. The student is responsible for all tuition according to the university refund schedule.

Withdraw from the University

If a student wishes to officially withdraw from all course work at George Fox University, either during or at the end of a semester/enrollment period, the student must notify the registrar's office directly to initiate the withdraw. An official withdraw begins when a student submits a completed withdraw form with required approvals to the registrar's office. Additional information is available in the Compliance with Federal Laws and Regulations portion of the catalog. The student is responsible for all tuition according to the university refund schedule. Generally, students withdrawing from the university are subject to tuition charges beginning the first day of classes.

See "Removal of Institutional Charges" in the Finance section for more information on tuition and fee refund policies.

The Grading System

Grade Reports

A student's semester grades, with a semester GPA and a cumulative GPA, are posted on the grade report and are available to the student two weeks following the close of each semester. The GPA is based on George Fox University credits only.

Semester grades are determined by the instructor's evaluation of the student's daily participation in class, performance on periodic tests, work on research papers and class projects, and achievement on final examinations. Grade points are assigned for each hour of credit earned according to the following system:

Letter Grade	Meaning	Points Per Semester Hour
A	Superior	4
A-		3.7
B+		3.3
B	Good	3
B-	<>	2.7
C+		2.3
C	Average	2

D+		1.3
D	Passing but inferior	1
F	Failing	0
I	Incomplete
W	Official withdrawal
X	No grade reported by instructor
NP	Not passing
L	Long-term

Plus (+) and minus (-) grades may be designated by a professor and will be entered on the transcript. Points will be calculated for the student's GPA accordingly.

The grade I is allowed if a student incurs illness or unpreventable and unforeseeable circumstances that make it impossible to meet course requirements on time. Request for an I grade is initiated with and approved by the registrar. A contract showing the work to be completed and the completion date is prepared in consultation with the instructor and filed with the registrar. An I not completed by the date indicated or within one semester becomes the grade indicated by the professor on the incomplete form, or an F if no grade is indicated.

An L grade designates satisfactory progress in a course whose objectives continue for more than one semester. The L will be replaced by either a P grade or a point-receiving grade. This is not an incomplete or I grade.

An X grade indicates the instructor did not report a grade to the registrar's office.

Repeating a Course

If a student repeats a particular course, the university counts the course credits only once toward graduation requirements. Only the second grade will count in the cumulative GPA, but the original grade will remain on the student's transcript.

Guarantees and Reservations

Generally, George Fox University guarantees that the student may graduate under the requirements stated in the catalog at the time of matriculation, provided attendance is continuous and full time (or at the hours required by the cohort program). Likewise, a student may graduate under the requirements applicable at the time of admission to a program, provided attendance is continuous and full time (or at the hours required by the cohort program).

Students taking an approved leave of absence may remain under the original catalog at the time of matriculation. Two exceptions may be noted: (1) In the event of a change in requirements in a program, the student may elect to fulfill the requirements of a revised program, provided attendance has been continuous and full time; (2) The university may face a situation beyond its control and foresight that may necessitate a revision in available courses. In such situations, the interests of the student will generally be protected.

The university reserves the right to withdraw courses with insufficient enrollment, add courses for which there is demand, upgrade programs, revise teaching and time assignments, regulate class size, adjust administrative procedures, and determine levels of competence of students and prerequisites for admission to classes and programs.

Satisfactory Academic Progress and Eligibility

Students are expected to maintain satisfactory academic progress. Satisfactory academic progress toward a degree as a full-time student is defined as completion at a rate not to exceed 150 percent of the published length of the program while maintaining a minimum cumulative GPA.

Degree	Published Length (years)	150%(years)	Miniumum GPA
B.A.	1.5	2.25	2.00
B.S.	1.5	2.25	2.00
M.A.	2.0	3.0	3.00
M.A.S.F.	2.0	3.0	3.00
M.A.T.S.	2.0	3.0	3.00
M.Div.	3.0	4.5	3.00
M.Ed.	1.0	1.5	3.00
M.A.T.	1.0	1.5	3.00
M.B.A.	2.2	3.3	3.00
D.Min.	3.0	4.5	3.00
Ed.D.	4.0	6.0	3.00
Psy.D.	5.0	7.5	3.00

In addition, no grade shall be lower than a B in designated graduate courses (see relevant program guide for a list of these courses). If students do not meet this standard, they must retake the course or courses and perform at a B level or better.

Academic warning, probation, or suspension may also be issued to graduate students for the following reasons:

- A grade of C in more than 6 hours of coursework
- A grade of D or F in any course

- A failing (no pass) grade in practica/internship
- A semester GPA below 3.0 for two consecutive semesters
- Failure to retake a course in a timely manner as specified by the school dean

The standard for satisfactory academic progress for students attending at a less than full-time rate will be adjusted based on the rate of enrollment.

Students who do not maintain satisfactory academic progress will generally not be eligible for financial aid. For additional information on the impact of unsatisfactory academic progress on financial aid, see the financial aid section.

In addition, their academic standing will be affected as described below.

Academic Warning, Probation, Suspension, and Dismissal

If the GPA for a given semester is below the minimum (as noted above), but the cumulative GPA is at or above the required minimum for satisfactory academic progress, the student may receive an academic warning. This warning is not a part of the student's permanent record, but it does alert the student to potential difficulties and to potential loss of financial aid eligibility. The student is encouraged to contact his or her academic advisor, who will assist in the development of improved study plans and encourage better use of reading and library skills.

A student may be placed on academic probation when his or her cumulative GPA falls below the minimum standard (as noted above). The student is given one semester of probation to achieve the above standard, after which a student may be suspended. Students may be given additional semesters of probation rather than suspension if they show a reasonable chance of meeting graduation standards.

A student not making satisfactory academic progress may be given academic suspension. After one or more semesters have elapsed, the student may apply for readmission, and if admitted, reenter on probation. The university may suspend any student who fails to earn a GPA of 1.0 during a semester, regardless of classification or number of hours completed, or any students who become so indifferent that they no longer benefit themselves or the university community.

A student not making satisfactory academic progress may be dismissed from the university. Students who are dismissed may not apply for readmission to George Fox University. The university may dismiss any student who fails to earn a GPA of 1.0 during a semester, regardless of classification or number of hours completed, or any students who become so indifferent that they no longer benefit themselves or the university community.

In addition to the above standards, programs may have additional standards governing academic progress and continuation.

Academic Appeals

Academic actions can be appealed to appropriate university authorities. Suspensions may be repealed for students not making satisfactory academic progress when university authorities deem the failure to be due to exceptional circumstances and judge the student has a reasonable chance to meet graduation requirements. Appeals are taken to be good faith actions that request reexamination of academic decisions. Submissions must be in writing delivered to the Office of Academic Affairs. All appeals must be made within limited time frames depending upon the action being appealed. A successful academic appeal does not necessarily result in a reinstatement of financial aid eligibility. A student who has lost aid eligibility due to insufficient satisfactory academic progress and who is wishing to appeal to have his or her financial aid reinstated must indicate so in the academic appeal process. Additional information is available in the Office of Academic Affairs and the Student Financial Services Office.

Continuous Enrollment and Leave of Absence

Upon being admitted to a degree program, the student is expected to enroll for a minimum number of hours per semester and per year, stated in the individual program guides, and to be in continuous enrollment each semester until graduation. If the student finds this impossible for a particular semester within the regular school year, a leave of absence form must be submitted to the registrar's office. Students in their final year must maintain continuous enrollment until the hours needed for graduation have been completed. Generally, students who have not maintained continuous enrollment and/or have extended their leave beyond an approved leave of absence must apply for readmission to the university.

Discontinuance of Enrollment

Enrollment at George Fox University is based upon an expectation that the student will perform responsibly in every area of life. A student may be denied reenrollment, suspended for failure to achieve minimum academic standards, suspended or dismissed for failure to meet financial obligations to the university, or suspended or dismissed for cause.

Commencement

The university awards degrees twice a year at its April/May and December commencement exercises. Application for graduation is to be made by at least one semester prior to commencement. All graduating students are expected to participate in commencement exercises. A graduation fee is charged (including for those students unable to participate). Students completing degree work at other times of the year may receive a formal letter from the registrar indicating that their work is complete. Diplomas are not issued until all academic and financial obligations have been met.

Graduation Requirements

Students wishing to receive a graduate degree from George Fox University must meet the following requirements:

1. Accumulate the number of credits required by the degree program in which the student is enrolled
2. Complete the required course work while meeting minimum cumulative GPA requirement of 3.0 for graduate students and 2.0 for SPS degree-completion students
3. Complete all degree requirements for the major/degree
4. Fulfill residency requirements at the university
5. File an Application for Degree form at least one semester prior to expected graduation
6. Pay in full all accounts at Student Financial Services

In order to participate in commencement ceremonies, a student must have completed all degree requirements.

Second Degree

Students earning a second concurrent degree pay an additional $20 graduation fee if participating in only one ceremony. Students earning a second degree will pay the standard graduation fee.

Final Examinations

Students are required to take final examinations as specified in course syllabi. Students wishing to apply for change of final exam time must apply with the registrar's office by the end of the 10th week of classes.

Academic Honesty

It is assumed that students at George Fox University will endeavor to be honest and of high integrity in all university matters. A lack of respect and integrity is evidenced by cheating, fabricating, plagiarizing, misuse of keys and facilities, removing books and other property not one's own, defacing and altering, and the disruption of classes.

Cheating is defined as “intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise.” It is assumed that whatever is submitted by a student is the work of that student and is new work for that course. Fabrication is “intentional and unauthorized falsification or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise or form.” Plagiarism is “intentionally or knowingly representing the words or ideas of another as one’s own in any academic exercise.” One who facilitates any of the above is equally responsible with the primary violator.

Penalties may include restitution, an F on an individual paper or exam, loss of campus position or employment, an F on a course, disciplinary probation, and suspension.

Graduate and Seminary Admission

George Fox University offers 14 graduate programs: three doctoral programs in clinical psychology (Psy.D.), education (Ed.D.), and ministry (D.Min.); master's-level programs in business administration (M.B.A.), education (M.Ed.) — including an administrative licensure program — organizational leadership (M.A.), teaching (M.A.T.), psychology (M.A. — part of the Psy.D. program), counseling (M.A.), marriage and family therapy (M.A.), school counseling (M.A.), and school psychology (M.S.); and three master's-level seminary programs, master of divinity (M.Div.), master of arts in Christian ministries (M.A.), and master of arts in theological studies (M.A.T.S.).

To be considered for admission, applicants are normally required to have a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university with a minimum 3.0 GPA in their last two years of academic work. An applicant whose cumulative GPA is below this may be considered for admission on academic probation.

Individual graduate and seminary programs have unique admission deadlines, requirements, and procedures established by the university. Application information for graduate study is available upon request.

Applications are also available at the George Fox Web site. For graduate education programs, write to the Office of Graduate Admissions, George Fox University, 414 N. Meridian St. #6149, Newberg, OR 97132-2697, or request an application by calling 800-631-0921. For all other graduate and seminary programs, write to the Office of Graduate Admissions, George Fox University, 12753 S.W. 68th Ave., Portland, OR 97223, or request an application by calling 800-493-4937.

Meeting minimum entrance requirements of a given program does not guarantee admission. Admission may be granted to applicants who do not meet all admission requirements at the minimal level if other indicators suggest probable success in the program.

Standardized admission examination requirements vary according to program. Information about required tests and testing dates and sites may be obtained from the Office of Graduate Admissions.

Application Procedures for Graduate Students

Application deadlines for graduate programs vary. Please consult the Office of Graduate Admissions.

Applicants to graduate programs at George Fox University must submit the following materials to the Office of Graduate Admissions:

1. Application for admission to the appropriate program for which admission is sought. (A second application to George Fox University is not required.)
2. One-time $40 application fee.
3. If applicable, a passing score on the program-required entrance examination (CBEST, Praxis I and/or II, MSAT, PPST, GRE, or GMAT). Scores must be less than five years old to be acceptable.
4. Official transcripts from regionally accredited postsecondary institutions attended.
5. Three or four references, depending on the program for which admission is sought. (Forms are included in the application packet.)
6. Applicant's Admission Statement or essay, as required by the program.
7. Once all materials have been received by the admissions office, the Admissions Committee will review the application. For most programs, a group or personal interview is required.
8. Admitted students pay a tuition deposit prior to enrollment. The deadline for this deposit is outlined in the letter of admission.

Refer to application packets or catalog descriptions of individual degree programs for the specific admission requirements.

George Fox University reserves the right to select students on the basis of academic performance and professional qualifications. George Fox University does not discriminate against students on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, gender, age, disability, or any other status to the extent prohibited under applicable nondiscrimination law in the administration of its admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, educational programs, athletics programs, cocurricular activities, or other university-administered programs.

Readmission of Former Students

To apply for readmission after an absence of one or more semesters, a student should request an Application for Readmission from the Office of Graduate Admissions. In most cases, readmitted students must meet any new or revised graduation requirements and may be asked to go through regular admission procedures.

Students who withdraw risk nonacceptance of that credit upon readmission unless such has been approved by the graduate program director and the registrar prior to leaving.

Campus Visitation

Students interested in enrolling at George Fox University are encouraged to visit the campus, preferably when classes are in session. A visit provides an opportunity to observe classes, see the campus facilities, and talk with students and professors. It also will give university personnel an opportunity to get to know the student better. When possible, visits should be arranged five days in advance through the Office of Graduate Admissions, which is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Newberg campus and the Portland Center. Prospective graduate students may arrange campus visits by contacting the Office of Graduate Admissions at Newberg, 800-631-0921, or Portland, 800-493-4937.

Financial Aid Application Deadlines

Prospective students are encouraged to apply by May 1, because financial assistance decisions are made shortly thereafter. Applications are welcome after that date, but only federal Stafford Loans will be available for financial assistance. Because financial assistance is extremely difficult to obtain midyear, the university encourages students with these needs to enter in the fall semester.

Application deadlines

Summer semester April 1

January M.A.T. in Your Community Oct. 15

M.B.A. admission deadline: Priority is given to applicants who complete their files by the following dates:

International Students

George Fox University is authorized to enroll nonimmigrant alien students. In addition to the standard requirements for admission, international applicants also must submit the following materials. These materials must be on file before the international applicant will be considered for admission.

1. Results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) for students whose first language is not English. A minimum score of 213 is required for admission.
2. Declaration of Finances form testifying to the applicant's ability to meet travel, educational, and living costs for the duration of study in the United States. U.S. federal regulations governing F-1 student status require compliance. 3. All transcripts must be evaluated by an approved agency and the detailed evaluation submitted to George Fox University. An approved agency list can be found online.

M.B.A. Advanced Standing

Students who have received an M.A.O.L. degree from George Fox University will receive advance standing and 24 hours credit toward the M.B.A. degree. Students then complete 18 hours of additional required coursework for the M.B.A. degree. This policy will remain in effect until December, 2007.

Seminary Advanced Standing

George Fox University will consider applicants for advanced standing at the seminary subject to the following:

1. Students admitted with advanced standing may be granted such standing a) without credit by exempting students from some courses but not reducing the total number of academic credits required for the degree, or b) with credit by reducing the number of hours required for the degree.

2. If George Fox chooses to grant advanced standing with credit, it must determine by appropriate written and oral examination that students have the knowledge, competence, or skills that normally would be provided by the specific courses for which they have been admitted with advanced standing. George Fox has articulation agreements with selected undergraduate schools detailing advanced standing. Prospective students are encouraged to ask the admissions counselor concerning the details.
3. Advanced standing with credit cannot be granted on the basis of ministerial or life experience or the content of undergraduate work alone.
4. If advanced standing is granted with credit on the basis of appropriate evaluation, not more than one-sixth of the total credits required for an ATS-approved degree may be granted in this way.
5. At least 50 percent of the concentration hours must be taken at George Fox Evangelical Seminary.
6. A student must meet the minimum residency requirements of the individual programs: 32 hours for the master of divinity, master of arts in theological studies, and master of arts in Christian ministries.
7. Appropriate fees may be assessed for processing and evaluation.
8. Faculty may identify certain courses that are not available for advanced standing.

The board of trustees reserves the right to adjust charges at any time, after giving due notice. No changes will be made during a semester, nor, unless special circumstances make such action necessary, will changes be made during a given academic year.

Student Financial Services

This office awards scholarships, grants, loans, and other forms of financial assistance, and it bills students for tuition, fees, room and board, and other expenses related to attending college. Financial Arrangements

All charges made by the university are due Aug. 15 for fall semester, Dec. 15 for spring semester, or may be made on an installment basis through an approved monthly payment plan (an enrollment fee applies). Students receiving scholarships, grants, or loans must complete all necessary arrangements well in advance of the semester start. Students who are securing a loan from financial institutions or agencies (e.g., a federally insured bank loan) that may still be pending when payment is due must have a letter of commitment from the lender acceptable to the university. Service charges will be made on unpaid accounts even though financial aid and loans are pending, so the application process should be started early.

Payment for summer tuition is due in full when billed. Students may be asked to leave at any time during a semester if appropriate arrangements have not been made at the beginning of the semester or if arrangements made are not honored.

Restrictions

The university will withhold transcript of records and diploma until all university bills have been paid. Students will not be permitted to attend for a new semester, including summer term, until all bills are paid for the previous session.

Removal of Institutional Charges and Financial Aid Policies

Explanation of Terms

The term "Title IV Funds" refers to federal financial aid programs authorized under the Higher Education Act of 1965 (as amended). At George Fox University, these programs include unsubsidized Stafford Loans, subsidized Stafford Loans, Perkins Loans, PLUS Loans, Pell Grants, and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (SEOG). Federal Work-Study wages are not included.

The term "Institutional Financial Aid Funds" refers to George Fox University financial aid dollars, including grants and scholarships.

The "Return" of funds, either Title IV or institutional, refers to the amounts charged or scheduled to be charged, removed from the student account.

The "withdraw date" is the date established by the Office of the Registrar in accordance with the Official Withdraw Process. (See Official Withdraw Process.)

The "period" used in calculating the return of Title IV and institutional funds is either the payment period or the enrollment period, depending on the academic program involved. Both periods are based on calendar days. They include weekends but exclude scheduled breaks of five days or more. The period used to calculate the removal of institutional charges is always the enrollment period.

The "enrollment period" is defined as the period for which a student is enrolled.

The "payment period" is defined as the loan payment period for which the student is eligible. The payment period is used only when calculating the return of funds for academic programs that have two loan disbursement periods within one academic period, such as the School of Professional Studies MOL and MBIS programs.

A "Postwithdrawal Disbursement" is a financial aid or loan disbursement that the student was eligible for prior to withdrawal, but had not yet received.

Removal of Institutional Charges

Students who choose to reduce their course load, and who do not completely withdraw from the university, will generally not receive a removal of tuition, course fees, and other associated fees unless the changes take place prior to the last day to change registration, also known as the end of the add/drop period, which is published in the university's academic calendar.

Adjustments of charges for summer graduate housing will generally be calculated as follows:

Students are charged on a weekly basis for housing. Any portion of a week used is charged at the weekly rate. Housing is limited to out-of-area residents with limited availability. Charges are removed for weeks not used. The Office of Student Life determines weeks used.

After the second week of the enrollment period, there is generally no adjustment of health insurance, student body fees, health counseling fees, activity fees, parking permit fees, and course fees. (Removal of course fees will be considered if the student submits faculty approval showing that the institution did not incur costs as a result of the student's anticipated participation in activities and/or supplies were not issued.)

Generally, there is no adjustment of add/drop fees or interest. When a student withdraws completely from the university for reasons other than documented and verified medical or hardship reasons, refunds of tuition, excluding abbreviated sessions (see "Abbreviated session" information below), will generally be calculated as follows:

- A student whose withdraw date is within the first week of the enrollment period generally receives a 90 percent removal of charges.
- A student whose withdraw date is within week two generally receives a 75 percent removal of charges.
- A student whose withdraw date is within week three generally receives a 50 percent removal of charges.
- A student whose withdraw date is within week four generally receives a 25 percent removal of charges.
- A student whose withdraw date is within week five, or later, generally receives no adjustment.

Abbreviated sessions are shorter in length resulting in a smaller percentage of tuition, if any, that may be removed. Generally speaking, a removal of tuition will only be considered if the student has been granted an academic drop for the course and if financial aid eligibility is not impacted.

Students requesting medical or hardship financial considerations must do so in writing to the Student Financial Services Office within 30 days of last date of attendance.

Note: No transcripts will be released until the student's account is paid in full. This includes current charges, balances that are the result of financial aid funds returned, and fines that may be assessed after the student leaves.

Removal of Institutional Aid

If a student withdraws and is granted a removal of tuition, George Fox University allows the student to retain a percentage of the disbursed institutional financial aid equal to the percentage that they have been charged, but not to exceed standard charges minus $100. Standard charges are considered to be tuition and fees. The order that institutional financial aid is removed is at the discretion of Student Financial Services.

Removal of Title IV Funds

The Return of the Title IV Federal Funds

These policies apply to students who withdraw entirely or take an approved leave of absence from George Fox University without earning credit for the enrollment period, or to students who are asked to withdraw for academic, disciplinary, or financial reasons.

Note: Both The Return of the Title IV Funds and Removal of Institutional Aid policies and the George Fox University Removal of Institutional Charges Policy must be considered when determining the financial impact of withdrawing completely from the university.

Return of Title IV Funds

Federal law requires that all Title IV funds disbursed to the school be included in the return calculation, including funds in excess of the student account balance that the institution has forwarded to the student and eligible funds pending disbursement. (See Postwithdrawal Disbursement.)

The percentage of Title IV funds returned is based on the number of calendar days the student was enrolled; including the established withdraw date, and allowable charges.

After 60 percent of the period has transpired, there is no return.

To estimate the amount that will be returned to federal aid programs:

1. Divide the days transpired by the total number of days in the period. (See Withdraw Date and Refund Calculation Period above.)
2. Convert this number to a percentage by moving the decimal point two places to the right and round to one decimal place. This generally equals the percentage of aid that is considered "earned" and subsequently may be retained.
3. Subtract the percentage of aid retained from 100 percent. This generally, if 40 percent or more, is the percentage that will be returned.

(Example: If a student's withdraw date is established as the 21st day of a period that is 111 days long, 21 days would be divided by 111 days to equal .1892, which converts to 18.9 percent. This is the amount of aid retained. 100 percent minus 18.9 percent equals 81.1 percent of aid that must be returned.)

When considering the impact of withdrawing, it is recommended that an estimated calculation be requested from the Student Financial Services Office prior to deciding to withdraw.

In accordance with federal regulations, the return of Title IV funds is made in the following order:

- Unsubsidized Stafford Loans
- Subsidized Stafford Loans

- Perkins Loans, PLUS Loans
- Pell Grants
- SEOG
- Other Title IV programs

Return of Title IV Funds by the Student

When the Return of Title IV Funds calculation results in the student (or parent for a PLUS Loan) having a repayment responsibility, Student Financial Services will notify the student of his or her responsibility.

Postwithdrawal Disbursement

When a Postwithdrawal Disbursement is available, the institution may, without the student's or parent's permission, credit the late disbursement to the student account to cover allowable institutional charges. When loans are applied to the student's account, the student is notified of the disbursement. If the student (or parent for a PLUS Loan) wishes to cancel all or a portion of a loan, they must do so, in writing, to Student Financial Services within two weeks of receiving notice of the disbursement.

When the Postwithdrawal Disbursement results in excess funds being available to the student, or when pending disbursements are needed to cover minor noninstitutional charges:

- Authorization from the borrower is required.
- If the borrower has not signed an authorization, the institution will request the needed authorization either electronically or in writing.
- The borrower will be advised that no late disbursement will be made for these purposes unless authorization is received within 14 days of the date the institution sent the notification.

These policies are in compliance with the Higher Education Reauthorization Act. For refund examples, please stop by Student Financial Services or call 503-554-2291.

Financial Aid

Basis of Student Aid

George Fox University offers several financial assistance programs for its degree-seeking students. Loans are a primary source of financial aid for graduate study. Limited tuition need-based and academic-based grants, scholarships, and employment are available to eligible students enrolled in seminary degree programs. All students in need of financial aid are encouraged to apply.

Information on financial aid options and application procedures is available from Student Financial Services. Options and procedures change annually, so please make sure you have information for the current year.

With few exceptions, students must be enrolled full time (at least 8 hours per semester) to receive financial aid. However, eligibility for assistance from the Federal Stafford Loan program requires half-time enrollment

(4 hours). Students must also meet eligibility requirements of the programs from which they receive assistance. Such requirements include maintaining satisfactory academic progress toward a degree, maintaining a minimum GPA, having financial need, and meeting other specific conditions of federal, state, or university regulations. Students enrolled in certificate programs only are not eligible for financial aid.

Additional Satisfactory Academic Progress Information for Financial Aid Eligibility: Satisfactory academic progress is defined in the academic policy section of this catalog. Students must meet two standards of satisfactory academic progress to continue eligibility for federal student financial aid. They are measurements of quality and quantity.

Quality Standard: A student must maintain the minimum grade point average (GPA) requirement. This standard requires that a cumulative GPA of 3.0 must be achieved by the end of the second academic year and must be maintained thereafter. A cumulative GPA less than 3.0 does not meet the quality standard.

Quantity Standard: A student must progress toward graduation requirements by satisfactorily completing at least 67 percent of the attempted credit hours and not exceeding 150 percent of the program length. A student who fails to meet these criteria does not meet the quantity standard.

Withdrawals and incompletes are considered attempted hours for financial aid purposes. These hours, as well as credit hours transferred in, are included in the determination of satisfactory academic progress for financial aid eligibility regardless of whether the student received aid while attempting those hours.

Failure to meet either standard could include warning, probation, or revoke status. An appeal process is available for students who can document that extenuating circumstances impacted their ability to meet the standards. Circumstances may include, but are not limited to, external factors that impacted their ability to study, health, or family issues. Contact your Student Financial Services counselor for information on the financial aid appeals process.

Awards Based Upon Financial Need

Financial need is determined by a uniform method of analysis of information provided on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The need analysis helps the university determine the contribution the student is expected to make. The difference between this expectation and the cost of attendance at the university is the "need" that financial aid attempts to fill.

Financial assistance awarded by George Fox University takes the form of grants, loans, and employment. "Need-based" financial assistance comes from the federal government and from the university. Students awarded federal aid are subject to the laws regulating those programs. For instance, all federal assistance requires signed statements from the recipient attesting that the funds will be used only for educational purposes, that the student is not in default on any government loan nor owing a refund on any government grant, and that the student has registered with the Selective Service or that he or she is not required to do so.

The total financial aid package — including all grants, scholarships, and loans — may not exceed the amount of need when federal program funds are included.

Loans, Scholarships, and Grants

The university participates in the federal William D. Stafford Subsidized and Unsubsidized Direct Loan programs. Eligibility for both Stafford loans is determined from the FAFSA information, as well as by the number of hours enrolled in and whether the student has been accepted to a qualified degree-seeking program. When other funds are not available, loans place the responsibility for financing higher education on the student. Students are encouraged to be cautious when applying for loans, but to consider the value of receiving financial assistance when needed and of paying some of the cost of education later when they are better able to do so. The university expects loans to be a significant part of the financial aid award for graduate students, but the student must decide whether loans are necessary based upon his/her financial situation. Students who are taking out a Stafford loan for the first time with George Fox University are required to go through an entrance interview. The Student Financial Services Office will provide information about that requirement and how to satisfy it.

Governmental Funds and Provisions

Prospective and enrolled students may request and receive information from the financial aid staff concerning available financial assistance and student consumer information.

Financial resources are supplied by the federal government through Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended. This aid includes the Pell Grant (for undergraduate students) and Stafford loan programs. Students may inquire at Student Financial Services about eligibility for aid, criteria for selection, award amounts, and rights and responsibilities.

Veterans Affairs (VA) Assistance

The university is listed with the U.S. government as a recognized graduate school for the training of veterans. All prospective students eligible for VA assistance should write to the university registrar for VA-approved program information and follow procedures required by the Veterans Affairs for transfer of training to George Fox University. To be recommended for VA assistance, the student must continue as a bona fide registrant throughout the semester. Those receiving VA assistance must meet the minimum academic standards of the university for enrollment and progress toward degree completion and to enroll must have an approved VA benefits voucher authorizing payment. The Montgomery GI Bill is considered a resource against all aid sources except for the subsidized Stafford loan.

Seminary Institutional Aid Programs

Several scholarship/grant programs are available for eligible students. Seminary Grants are awarded annually.

Unless otherwise specified, students must be enrolled full time with 8 hours or more for each semester to receive a scholarship or grant.

The Clapp Scholarship is awarded to master of divinity students.

The Julius Clifton Bruner Scholarship Fund was established by Iris J. Bruner in memory of her husband for graduate theological education.

The Ketterling-Schlenker Memorial Scholarship Fund was established to assist students demonstrating financial need. Preference is given to students from North Dakota, Montana, or the Midwest.

The Clara and Harlan Macy Memorial Scholarship was established by family members to help seminary students going into pastoral ministry.

The Chuan Cheng Morrissey Missions Memorial Scholarship Fund is awarded to students preparing for cross-cultural ministry (preferably with Chinese) or to Chinese students preparing for cross-cultural ministry to non-Chinese.

The H.W. and Wilma Ogden Scholarship is awarded to Free Methodist students in the ministry program at the seminary.

The Richard Parker Scholarship was established by Jeannette Parker in memory of her husband. It is awarded to students in the master of divinity, master of arts in Christian ministries, or master of arts in theological studies programs.

The John and Emma Pike Scholarship is awarded to master of divinity students committed to full-time pastoral ministry upon graduation.

Earnings from the Arthur T. Shelton Scholarship Fund are awarded to students coming from the states of Oregon and Washington.

Earnings from the Lydia C. Sundberg Memorial Fund are awarded to international students who will return to their homeland, or students planning to enter missionary service.

The Glenn and Allee Yoder Memorial Scholarship was established in 1993 by their family for the educational advancement of Christian students.

Eligibility for all of the above scholarships is based on evidence of financial need and is limited to tuition only. If a student's enrollment status changes, the amount of the scholarship may be decreased accordingly. A student may not be on academic probation more than one semester to maintain eligibility. Awards are limited to the amount of funds available and to seminary courses taken for credit only, not audit courses or off-campus courses and seminars.

Seminary Church Matching Grants: Up to $600 match is awarded annually. Participating churches must be approved and must provide a letter of confirmation by October 1 indicating the designated student and the amount contributed. A $600 award by a church would result in a $600 match from the university. Fall deadline for seminary students is Oct. 1, 2005. For new seminary students starting in spring of 2006, the deadline is Feb. 1, 2006.

Seminary Multiethnic Scholarships are awarded to current and prospective students who are U.S. citizens and ethnic minorities. These scholarships are based on need.

Partners in Ministry Grants are provided for all spouses enrolled in the partners in ministry certificate program. Scholarships are limited to one course per semester. Scholarships will be applied only to those courses in the program.

Pastor and Teacher Enrichment Grants are available for full-time pastors, Christian educators, and mission personnel not pursuing a degree program, for courses taken on an audit basis.

Seminary Grant

The Seminary Grant is available to all students whose federal financial aid form determines need and who have at least a 3.5 cumulative GPA. Also, the federal financial aid form results must be received by the Student Financial Services by May 1. All new entering seminary students will be considered on need only, but the cumulative GPA must also be maintained with at least a 3.5 cumulative GPA to continue receiving the Seminary Grant.

Seminary International Student Award

All international students will be awarded an International Grant based on 20 percent of the tuition for a full load of 8 hours. Students must maintain at least 8 hours per semester and can receive 20 percent of any credits over 8 hours, as well. It is the student's responsibility to let Student Financial Services know if taking more than 8 hours. All international students must apply for admission by May 1 of each year in order to receive the International Grant.

Seminary Research Scholars and Teaching Assistants

Several seminary students are selected each year to serve as research scholars and teaching assistants for full-time faculty. Prospective research scholars and teaching assistants should make application for the position with the endorsement of the faculty member by May 1 prior to the academic year. Qualifications for the position are considered. An applicant must be a registered student. Though not required, a research scholar is typically in her/his second or third year of study. Research scholars and teaching assistants are considered student employment positions. Remuneration will be at the established university student employment rates.

Seminary Student Employment

Several seminary students are selected each year for campus employment assignments at the Portland Center of George Fox University. These positions vary throughout the year depending on the staffing needs. Both financial need and qualifications for the position are considered. Applications are available from the Portland Center admissions office. A campus employment student must be a registered student. Remuneration will be at the established university student employment rates.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act

George Fox University accords all the rights under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) to students who are enrolled. No one shall have access to, nor does the institution disclose any information from, students' education records without the written consent of students except to personnel within the institution with direct educational interest, to persons or organizations providing students' financial aid, to accrediting agencies carrying out their accreditation function, to persons in compliance with a judicial order, and to persons in an emergency in order to protect the health or safety of students or other persons. All these exceptions are permitted under the Act.

Students are afforded the right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception that permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate education interests. A school official is a person employed by the university in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (campus security personnel, and health services staff); a person serving on the board of trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an educational record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility. Upon request, the university may disclose educational records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

At its discretion, George Fox University may provide "directory information" in accordance with the provisions of the Act. Directory information is defined as that information which would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. The university construes the following information to be "directory information": parents' names and addresses, the student's name, permanent address, local address, temporary address, e-mail address, telephone number, date and place of birth, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, major, dates of attendance, full-time and part-time status, degrees and awards received, class year, the most recent previous school attended, and for members of athletics teams, height, weight, and position played. The university also considers photographs to be directory information. As such, release of photographs also is permitted.

Students may restrict the release of their directory information to third parties by annually submitting a signed and dated statement to the registrar's office within the first two weeks of the semester. Otherwise, all photographs and information listed above are considered as "directory information" according to federal law. Nondirectory information, notably grade records, are released to third parties only on written request of the student, or otherwise required by law (e.g., subpoena).

The law provides students the right to inspect and review information contained in their education records, to challenge the contents of their education records, to have a hearing if the outcome of the challenge is unsatisfactory, and to submit explanatory statements for inclusion in their files if they feel the hearing panel's decisions are unacceptable. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

The registrar's office at George Fox University has been designated by the institution to coordinate the inspection and review of procedures for student education records, which include admission, personal and academic files, and academic, cooperative education, disciplinary records, and placement records. Students wishing to review their education records must give a written request to the registrar listing the item or items of interest. Only records covered in the act are made available within 45 days of the request. Education records do not include student health records, employment records, alumni records, or records of instructional, administrative, and educational personnel that are the sole possession of the maker and are not accessible or revealed to any individual except a temporary substitute. Health records, however, may be reviewed by physicians of the student's choosing.

Students may not inspect and review the following as outlined by the act: financial information submitted by their parents; confidential letters and recommendations associated with admission, employment or job placement, or honors to which they have waived their rights of inspection and review; or education records containing information about more than one student, in which case the institution permits access only to that part of the record which pertains to the inquiring student.

Drug-Free Environment

George Fox University is concerned about the intellectual, physical, psychological, and spiritual well-being of all its students and employees. The community recognizes the danger to one's physical and psychological well-being presented by the use of certain products. Therefore, members of the community are prohibited from using tobacco in any form, alcoholic beverages, and illicit or nonprescribed drugs and substances (including marijuana or narcotics). Under no circumstances are the above to be used, possessed, or distributed on or away from campus. Community members are also expected not to abuse the use of legal substances. For information concerning disciplinary actions, please refer to the student and employee handbooks. Students and employees are provided annually a resource guide concerning drug and alcohol issues.

Disabled Students

The Office of Student Life coordinates services for disabled students. This office also promotes campus awareness of issues and needs of disabled students. Supportive services may be provided, depending on the nature of the disability and availability of resources. Documentation of an existing disability generally will be required.

Specific courses on career exploration, study skills, and writing development are available. Special adaptive physical education classes for students with disabilities are offered through the Department of Health and Human Performance.

Interested students should contact Disability Services and provide documentation of disability and information concerning desired accommodations. Students are encouraged to contact Disability Services as early as possible to make arrangements for necessary support services.

Anti-Harassment Policy

George Fox University students work in an environment where the dignity of each individual is respected. Demeaning gestures, threats of violence, or physical attacks directed toward another person are not tolerated. This includes hazing or other initiations or any actions that may be hazardous, dehumanizing, harassing, or humiliating to community members. Also included is the use of telephones, United States or campus mail, or e-mail for the purpose of issuing obscene, harassing, or threatening messages. Also, vandalism of property is unacceptable.

Harassment due to race, color, sex, marital status, religion, creed, age, national origin, citizenship status, workers' compensation status, physical or mental disability, veteran's status, or any other status protected under applicable local, state, or federal law is prohibited.

A person may commit criminal harassment if he or she intentionally harasses or annoys another person by:

- Subjecting another person to offensive physical contact
- Publicly insulting another person with abusive words or gestures in a manner intended and likely to provoke a violent response

Sexual Harassment

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature may constitute sexual harassment when:

1. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment or academic status;
2. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual influences employment or academic status decisions affecting such individual; or
3. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work, academic, or student life environment.

The conduct prohibited may be verbal, visual, or physical in nature. It includes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, physical touching, or the granting or withholding of benefits (e.g., pay, promotion, time off, and grades) in response to sexual contact. More subtle forms of inappropriate behavior such as offensive posters, cartoons, caricatures, comments, and jokes of a sexual nature are prohibited, as they may constitute sexual harassment when they contribute to a hostile or offensive work, academic, or student life environment.

Complaint Procedure for Harassment

If any employee or student believes he or she has witnessed discrimination or harassment, has been discriminated against, or has been subjected to sexual or other forms of harassment, the person should immediately report it as follows:

1. If the alleged incident involves two students (outside the context of student employment), the vice president for student life or the dean of students should be contacted.
2. If the alleged incident involves a student and a faculty member, the academic dean, the provost, or the vice president for student life should be contacted.
3. If the alleged incident involves one or more support staff, administrators, faculty members, or student employees, then a supervisor, the director of human resources, the provost, or any vice president should be contacted.

Complaints are to be investigated promptly and appropriate corrective action taken. No one will suffer retaliation for reporting concerns about discrimination or harassment.

Retaliation is prohibited for good-faith reporting of concerns about discrimination or harassment. Employees who are asked to testify during an investigation are expected to cooperate fully. Retaliation against them for doing so is not tolerated. Any employee found to have engaged in discrimination, harassment, or retaliation is subject to immediate disciplinary action as deemed appropriate by the university, up to and including termination.

Withdraw Process from the University

The registrar's office is designated by the institution as the contact for all withdraws: part-time, during-semester, or complete withdraws. If a student wishes to officially withdraw from all course work at George Fox University either during or at the end of a semester/enrollment period, the student must notify the registrar's office directly to initiate the withdraw. An official withdraw begins when a student submits a completed form with all required approvals to the registrar's office. In most cases, an exit interview will also be required.

Generally the student will be awarded W grades for all courses affected by an official withdraw.

The student is then considered to be officially withdrawn.

The student is responsible to return all institutional property to the appropriate office or department, such as library books, keys, athletic equipment, lab equipment, etc. Students are financially responsible for all items not returned.

The student will be notified by Student Financial Services of financial obligations when the withdraw calculation is completed. For a copy of or examples of the refund policy, please contact Student Financial Services.

The official withdraw date is established by the registrar's office. Generally, the withdraw date is the date the withdraw form is completed and submitted to the registrar's office or the date established on the withdraw form.

For during-semester withdraws, students generally lose enrollment privileges five working days after the official withdraw date established by the registrar's office. These services may include, but are not limited to, e-mail, library, student activities, food service, on-campus housing, health, and other related services associated with enrolled student status. The university reserves the right to remove privileges immediately upon official withdraw notification.

Rescind Notification of Intent to Withdraw

If a student wishes to cancel his or her official withdraw from the institution, that student must submit to the registrar's office, in writing, his or her intent to complete the current term of enrollment. This rescinds the student's notification of intent to withdraw.

Unofficial Withdraw

If a student fails to follow the official withdraw process, he or she will be considered to have unofficially withdrawn. If the student unofficially withdraws, the institution will generally use the 50 percent point of term or a documented earlier or later date of academic activity or attendance as the official withdraw date. Generally, the student will be awarded F grades for all courses affected by an unofficial withdraw.

Appeal

An appeal of the established withdraw date is to be submitted in writing to the registrar's office within 60 days from the established withdraw date.
