Audition Requirements

We would love to meet you and hear your Scholarship audition in person! If an on-campus visit isn't possible, then video auditions are accepted. Auditions can contain music of diverse genres, though applicants should consider the Music Concentration or Ensemble that they are most interested in as they select pieces. For example, Worship students should submit recordings of at least one worship tune in addition to Broadway or classical pieces; Music Industry students can submit studio projects or electronically produced music as part of their audition; Music Liberal Arts and Artistic Achievement applicants should submit at least one classical piece; jazz students should submit a sample of their improvisation. Please contact a George Fox Faculty to clarify any questions regarding repertoire.

Requirements for All Auditions:

- Strings, Brass, & Woodwinds - Play two pieces of contrasting styles, and three scales of your choice in 2-3 octaves, as appropriate for your instrument. If you want to demonstrate jazz or fiddle playing, you may add a third piece to showcase these diverse styles of playing. Your total video should be under 10 minutes.
- Percussion - Play one mallet piece and one drum piece (snare, timpani, or multiple percussion). If you play the drum kit, add an additional video of your kit playing, either alone or in an ensemble. Your total video should be under 10 minutes.
- Piano - Audition length should be no more than 15 minutes. Perform three pieces in contrasting styles (i.e. Baroque, Classical, Romantic, Impressionistic, 20th century, Jazz, or Popular styles).
- Voice - Perform two or three pieces in contrasting style (i.e. Baroque, Classical, Romantic, 20th century, Broadway, or Worship songs). Solo/ensemble literature is appropriate for the scholarship audition.

Additional requirements for VIDEO AUDITIONS (for remote only):

1. Video audition submissions will require students to submit a video (see requirements below), then participate in a virtual interview, via Zoom, with one or more Fox music professors. In this interview, we will ask you questions about your musical experience, musical goals, and answer any questions you have about music at Fox or any other questions related to the University. You will not perform during the live interview.
2. Please email a pdf of the music you are performing along with your video submission.
3. Please dress professionally for your video recording session, and ensure that your video background is appropriate.
4. Please ensure that the audio quality of your recording is of good quality, and does not distort or cut in and out. It does not have to be studio quality, but it should be a good representation of your real tone.
5. You may edit your video to splice together your pieces, though we prefer that each individual piece or scale is recorded without splicing.

Next Steps: Please submit this form to music@georgefox.edu; Music Majors, please also register for Scholarship Summit through your Admissions Coach. We will notify you of your scheduled interview/audition time after we have received all documents.
