

Amanda Spicer

(555) 555-5555 | aspicer@georgefox.edu | LinkedIn.com/name

Professional Summary

Passionate and motivated with excellent communication skills, focus, and flexibility. Interested in the human brain and the behaviors associated with it while also pursuing cognitive science as a field that draws on multiple subjects to learn, including computer science, mathematics, anatomy, neuroscience, and psychology.

Education

Bachelors of Science in Cognitive Science Expected May 2020

George Fox University – Newberg, OR

Relevant Coursework: Social Psychology, Sociology, Cultural Anthropology, Computer Science – Java & Python, Advanced Research Methods, Cognition

Experience

Individualized Study: Psychological Disorders & Criminology Fall 2019

PSYC 495, George Fox University

Created an online assessment evaluating and measuring sentencing decisions for individuals with mental health disorders.

- Analyzed and assessed response data to determine patterns and trends vs. anomalies and errors in order to make revisions as needed.
- Gathered and utilized research and conclusions for a subsequent paper and presentation.

Department of Community Justice Intern 01/2019 to 04/2019

Department of Community Justice, McMinnville, OR

- Partnered with a Domestic Violence Probation Officer.
- Facilitated conversations with various domestic violence parolees to ensure they were meeting probation standards.
- Demonstrated confidentiality through filing and office tasks for parole officers.
- Aided in cognitive rehabilitation for those on parole, helping them to re-enter society.

English Teacher Abroad 06/2018 to 07/2018

LCC University, Klaipėda, Lithuania

- Taught English to children in Lithuania from second grade to eighth grade.
- Designed and implemented lesson plans each day.
- Worked with other team members to create activities for the children outside of class.

Business and Marketing Intern 01/2017 to 04/2017

MVW Insurance, Portland, OR

- Came up with and implemented a marketing plan for the company.
- Wrote articles for company newsletters.
- Worked with team members in the office to create and improve marketing ideas.

Additional Skills

- Intuitive and highly relational – able to meet people and quickly understand their needs
- Exemplary attention to detail
- Able to analyze and make inferences from sets of data