Introductory Declarations & Campus Oversight

From the Director

Thank you for taking the time to read this year's Annual Security Report. The purpose of this report is to inform the George Fox University community of what crime has been reported on campus, in the immediate area surrounding our properties, and at our various campus centers.

This report also provides the reader with ways to report crime and safety concerns as well as what policies and procedures are in place to make the GFU community safer. The Campus Public Safety team is here to help anyone who needs assistance. Our focus is safety, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

When you review the statistics, you will see how safe George Fox University campuses really are. This is the result of the teamwork of the entire campus community. Safety is a shared responsibility and we rely on everyone's assistance to report suspicious activities and potential safety hazards.

If you have any questions or would like further information about safety and security at George Fox University, please stop in at our office at any time or check out our webpage on the George Fox University website.

Ed Gierok

Director of Campus Public Safety

About the Annual Security Act

In 1998, the federal government passed the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or the Clery Act. This law requires colleges and universities receiving federal funding to annually compile and publish the reported instances of criminal activity on their campuses, along with campus safety policies and procedures and to make a log of all daily police activity and deliver timely warnings of campus threats throughout the year.

The purpose of the Clery Act is to provide students, families and employees with accurate, complete and timely information about campus safety so that they can make informed decisions. George Fox University Department of Campus Public Safety publishes this Annual Security and Fire Safety Report in compliance with the Clery Act, and also offers it as a resource guide, directing the reader to campus safety services and advising on crime prevention strategies.

This report also includes institutional policies concerning campus security, such as the policies concerning alcohol and drug use, crime prevention, the reporting of crimes, sexual assault and other matters.

About GFU Department of Campus Public Safety

Campus Public Safety at George Fox University is under the Director of Campus Public Safety and a department of the Student Life Office. The campus safety program at GFU is designed proactively, responding with visibility, education, prevention, and immediate response to university incidents. We work closely with the Newberg-Dundee police department as support for law enforcement matters.

The primary responsibility of Campus Public Safety is to protect our University community by providing general assistance to visitors, employees, and others doing business or associated with the university; and safeguard the persons, vehicles, buildings, and property on campus. Officers patrol the campus 24 hours a day with an emphasis placed on crime prevention and education. In addition to the officers, the department includes Parking Services. The department encourages the accurate and prompt reporting of all crimes.

Campus Public Safety at George Fox University serves all students, staff, faculty, and guests to our campus community. The department has a director and a full-time DPSST (Department of Public Safety Standards & Training) certified staff able to assist with escorts, campus incidents, injuries, safety hazards, calls for assistance, parking enforcement issues, crowd and traffic control, and related responsibilities.

Campus Public Safety is available by calling (503) 554-2090 or ext. 2090 on campus phones. This number will connect you with the administrative assistant during regular office hours or the officer on duty after hours.

The regular office hours are: Monday-Friday, 7 a.m.-4 p.m. except during holidays and special university functions. During the weekends and evenings our Campus Safety Officers (CSO's are assisted by (DPSST-private security certified) student officers. Officers are on duty 24/7.

Annual Disclosure of Crime Statistics Policy

This report is filed as required by the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, commonly referred to as the Clery Act. The purpose of this report is to provide GFU students, employees, and visitors with campus safety information, including crime statistics and procedures to follow to report a crime. Any questions regarding this report should be directed to the Director of Campus Public Safety at (503) 554-2090.

This report is prepared by the Department of Campus Public Safety in cooperation with the local law enforcement agencies serving our main campus, the Portland Center Campus, and Salem Campus. Additionally, statistics compiled are based on reports filed following our request to the following College offices:

- Director of Residence Life
- Director of Commuter Life
- Dean of Students
- Associate Dean of Students

Victims or witnesses of crime may report the incident to Campus Public Safety or to any of the other above-mentioned campus personnel. They may choose to receive counseling and medical treatment, and they may choose to speak about the crime confidentially. They may also pursue prosecution through local law enforcement agencies and have the right to refuse any of these options without reproach from College personnel. College personnel advise them of these rights.

A procedure is in place to anonymously count crime statistics disclosed during a confidential counseling session. Anyone who reports violations of the Clery Act is protected from retaliation, threats, or discrimination by any employee of the College.

Each year, an email notification that provides a link for website access to this report is sent to all enrolled students. Faculty and staff receive a similar notification through the GFU employee email system. Copies of the report may also be obtained at the Department of Campus Public Safety office or by calling (503) 554-2090. This information and much more is available online, through the Campus Safety webpage on the GFU website.

Timely Warnings

In the event that a situation arises that constitutes an ongoing or continuing threat either on or off campus, a campus-wide “timely warning” will be issued by GFU Campus Public Safety.

Immediate notification of the campus community will be made by these same procedures upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students, staff, faculty or guests of GFU on campus. A warning will be issued to all students, faculty, and staff by any one of the following means:

- Urgent GFU email to students, faculty, and staff
- FoxAlert, University Emergency notification system
- Fliers posted at all entrances throughout the buildings and university housing

Anyone with information warranting a timely warning should report the circumstances to GFU Campus Public Safety in person, or by phone at (503) 554-2090.

Security and Access of Campus Facilities

All campus roadways, parking lots, grounds, and buildings are regularly patrolled by Campus Public Safety. The University encourages an open environment with limited constraints to ensure the reasonable protection of all members of the community. Except for residence halls, most campus facilities are open during weekday business hours. During non-business hours an automated card access control system is in use in several academic and administrative buildings and university buildings are locked, as usage warrants, and patrolled. University members with questions about the system or access after business hours should contact the building monitors or the locksmith.

Several campus locations are equipped with intrusion alarms, video monitoring, and access control systems. Fire and intrusion alarms are monitored through a central monitoring system which will dispatch Campus Public Safety and/or local emergency responders in the event of activation. The Newberg campus is monitored by a central alarm monitoring company that advises Campus Public Safety of potential problems. Year round unarmed, uniformed, Oregon DPSST licensed security guards patrol the interior and exterior of the Newberg campus. Portland Center is accessible by card lock only during evening hours when the center is open.

George Fox University is committed to campus safety and security. Exterior lighting and landscape control is a critical part of that commitment. Representatives from various departments continually conduct security surveys to ensure campus lighting is adequate and that the landscape is appropriately controlled. Campus Safety officers and other community members conduct routine checks of lighting on campus during regularly assigned patrol duties.

If lights are out or dim, officers will initiate an immediate work order, which is acted upon by a representative of the appropriate maintenance office, usually within 24 hours or the next business day. We encourage community members to report any deficiency in lighting to the Plant Services Customer Service Center at (503) 554-2010. Any community member who has a concern about physical security should contact the Campus Public Safety department at (503) 554-2090 or Plant Services at (503) 554-2010.

The department and representatives from the alarm and lock shops work together to identify inoperative locking mechanisms. We encourage community members to promptly report any locking mechanism deficiency to the Plant Services Customer Service Center at (503) 554-2010 or to GFU Public Safety at: (503) 554-2090. Maintenance staff is available to respond to calls for service regarding unsafe facility conditions or for personal safety and property protection. These conditions also may include unsafe steps or handrails, unsafe roadways on campus, and unsecured equipment.

All residence halls are equipped with an automated card access control system. Limited access is available to students and authorized staff and faculty via the system. Guests and other visitors may visit residence halls as long as they are with the person they are visiting or an authorized member of the community. The exterior doors to student residence halls remain locked 24 hours a day. The George Fox University locksmith shop maintains this system and works closely with the building monitors to control access.

Crime Prevention and Security Awareness Programs

Campus Public Safety supports crime prevention and safety awareness. The office provides the following prevention services:

- Published Information: Includes data and pamphlets available from Campus Public Safety. The office holds sessions on various personal safety topics upon request. Information is provided through workshops, crime alerts, brochures, and notices titled "Timely Notices" in the Student News and Information folder of the campus e-mail system.
- Residence Life Staff Training Program: Residence Life staff are offered training on security issues they may face during an annual training presentation.
- University-wide Presentations: We offer and present to students, staff, and faculty, in various venues the ability to request the following presentations:
 - o Flashpoint on Campus: DVD Presentation on Behaviors of concern among students on campus and how to recognize, report concerns.
 - o Run, Hide, Fight: DVD Presentation about active shooter on campus.
 - o Wasted Youth: DVD Presentation on consequences of DUII told in the words of the victims and offenders.

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention Program Disclosure

The Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention Program (DAAPP) annually articulates University policies and conduct information regarding drug and alcohol use or possession, including legal sanctions, health risks, and various help and treatment options. This information can be found online through university policy links. It also includes information about the biennial federal Drug-Free Schools and Campuses Act (DFSCA).

Sexual Misconduct Prevention and Response

The University provides a variety of internal and external supports and resources that are confidential, as well as avenues for reporting. The Sexual Misconduct Resources include university resources and support, community resources, hospitals, law enforcement, and other education and training.

Sexual Misconduct Policies and Procedures

The introduction to the policies and procedures regarding sexual misconduct can be found here. The comprehensive and detailed sexual misconduct policies and procedures include the following items: the University's statement prohibiting this conduct, terms and definitions, investigative procedures and interviews, the hearing process, supportive measures, confidentiality, conditional immunity, bystander intervention, prohibited conduct terms and definitions, reporting, timely warnings, resolution methods, sanctions and remedies, and the appeals process.

Campus Awareness and Education

Awareness and educational efforts are important aspects of preventing and responding to incidents that may arise. These include the following:

- Orientation sessions for new undergraduate and transfer students designed to educate students regarding the outlined behaviors, University policies and expectations, and essential reporting and resources.
- Yearly educational efforts reminding current students and employees regarding these policies and important information.
- Campus safety precautions are reviewed yearly and appropriate upgrades are implemented.
- Assistant Area Coordinators (AACs) and Resident Assistants (RAs) are trained annually to respond and assist students in crisis situations and in protocols for emergency response.
- Flyers, posters and other educational documents are posted yearly in prominent locations on campus.

Title IX & Campus SaVE Act Training for Students & Employees

Undergraduate students, Graduate/DPS students and Employees must participate in an online course designed to educate our community in the areas of Title IX & the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act (Campus SaVE Act).

Awareness and educational efforts are important aspects of preventing and responding to sexual misconduct incidents that may arise. Please contact the Title IX Coordinator or one of the Deputy Coordinators if you would like to schedule training and education regarding sexual misconduct/Title IX for your department, club, residence hall floor or organization.

In addition to the educational resources provided below, there are a number of websites that provide valuable information regarding sexual misconduct and Title IX. Some of these include End Rape on Campus, and Know Your IX. Currently, there are a number of educational initiatives that occur on campus. These include the following:

- Vector Solution's Sexual Assault Prevention: Completion of this online course is required for all undergraduate, graduate and adult degree program, and George Fox University employees. The student course helps students to better understand and develop skills around bystander intervention, consent, healthy relationships, the effects of alcohol, social norms and reporting assaults. The employee online course trains faculty, staff and administrators on topics including understanding social norms, perpetrator behavior, victim blaming, cautions for risk-reduction, reporting offenses, investigative procedures, victim rights and sexual harassment. More information regarding this is available at Vector Solutions Higher Education Training.

- Educational Brochures, Flyers and Posters: Periodic Daily Bruin announcements remind students about reporting and resources available to them. Flyers, posters, and other educational documents are posted yearly in prominent locations on campus (Newberg, Portland and Redmond).
- Welcome Weekend: Orientation sessions for new undergraduate and transfer students are designed to educate students about the outlined behaviors, university policies and expectations, and essential reporting and resources.

Campus Climate Surveys

Campus climate surveys are conducted bi-annually in order to address and understand the following:

- How sexual assault affects the health, mental health, and academic success of students.
- The scope or nature of the problems of sexual assault on campus in order to increase knowledge to aid in campus response, intervention and prevention efforts.
- Student's knowledge about reporting policies and resources for victims, their attitudes about prevention, and their perceptions about how the University is addressing the issue of sexual violence.

Reporting and Resources for Harassment, Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, Bias-Related Incidents, Hate Crimes, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, Stalking and Sexual Exploitation

Harassment, discrimination, sexual harassment, bias-related incidents, hate crimes, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking and sexual exploitation are not tolerated in the George Fox community. These actions may also violate local, state and federal law. All complaints or allegations of harassment are investigated promptly by designated University personnel. Appropriate, corrective action may be implemented based upon the findings of the investigation.

Although demeaning, discriminating or harassing messages on such things as flyers, posters, emails, social media (e.g., Facebook), voicemails, and graffiti are often obnoxious or worse, it is helpful to preserve them as evidence, and not to disturb or remove anything that could help identify the source and/or targets or other affected persons.

University Resources and Support

You may choose to receive support from the many university resources available to you. Completely confidential counseling/support is available from the university pastoral team or the Health & Counseling Center.

Any student who believes he or she has witnessed or been the victim of discrimination, discriminatory harassment, or sexual harassment, including any type of violence or sexual misconduct (e.g., sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, sexual exploitation, or stalking), is urged to report the matter to the Title IX coordinator or deputy coordinators or a residence life staff member (e.g., area coordinator). Should you choose to report something that has happened to you, it is still generally your choice in terms of whether or not an official investigation is pursued.

Please note that all faculty, staff and administrators, as well as student resident assistants (RAs), are mandatory reporters and must notify the Title IX Coordinator or one of the deputy coordinators.

Reporting and Resources for Sexual Assault

To foster the safety and security of the entire community, George Fox University strongly encourages immediate reporting of all alleged instances of sexual assault. There are several reporting options described below.

Through investigating and resolving reports of sexual assault the University is committed to respecting the rights of all parties involved. To this end, the University is prepared to provide help, support, and assistance to the alleged survivor and the alleged perpetrator.

All complaints or allegations of sexual assault are investigated promptly by designated University personnel. Appropriate, corrective action may be implemented based upon the findings of the investigation. If any student or employee believes he or she has witnessed, or is a survivor of an alleged sexual assault, the person is encouraged to immediately report the incident to University officials as indicated below. Any person violating these policies may be subject to appropriate community accountability, up to and including termination if they are an employee, and suspension or dismissal if they are an undergraduate or graduate/DPS student.

(Note: Until a determination of a violation has been reached, the word alleged is used to describe both the survivor(s) and the perpetrator(s)). University personnel exercise sensitivity and discernment while striving to protect the privacy of the students involved.

Retaliation

Retaliation is strictly prohibited by federal law and institutional policy. It encompasses any adverse or negative action directed against an individual for participating in reporting, investigations, or related proceedings. This includes intimidation, threats, coercion, hostility, harassment, or retribution connected to the reporting process or participation as a party or witness in administrative or court proceedings.

I understand how frustrating this is. Because the complete document is so large, the chat box continues to run out of text space and automatically clips the bottom half of the report.

To prevent the system from truncating any text, I have broken the remaining sections down into two finalized, highly structured text blocks that you can copy out one at a time.

Bystander Intervention & Conditional Immunity

George Fox University is deeply committed to the health, safety, and well-being of its students. Bystander intervention by students can be a critical aspect of enhancing the welfare of their peers. Students are strongly encouraged to contact University personnel, call 911, or seek other professional or medical attention when the health or safety of themselves or others is threatened or appears to be at risk.

The University wants to eliminate barriers for students who may be hesitant to seek medical or emergency help or report an incident to university officials because they fear being held accountable for policy violations (e.g., drinking alcoholic beverages). To encourage reporting, George Fox pursues a policy of offering students who are accessing help for themselves or others, conditional immunity from being charged with lifestyle policy violations related to the particular incident. While there may be no community accountability sanctions for these individuals, the University may provide elements of help, support, and education.

Emergency Reporting Methods

Alleged survivors may use confidential on-campus or off-campus resources, or file a report with Student Life. Individuals wishing to receive confidential help and support can use any of the confidential options listed previously. Student Life personnel are prepared to journey with the student to provide support, as well as assist the student in all aspects of reporting, up to and including the incident being investigated and the alleged perpetrator confronted.

Note: Assistant Area Coordinators & Resident Assistants (AACs & RAs) can serve as an initial contact and will assist students in connecting immediately with the student life professional staff.

No Contact Orders (NCO)

A No Contact Order (NCO) is an administrative measure taken to ensure an identified party (reporting party or responding party) has no contact, directly or indirectly, with another identified party following a report of prohibited conduct or a finding of a violation of University policy. This may include sexual misconduct, bias, discrimination, harassment, or any other conduct that embodies perceived or actual behavior that is threatening, harassing, or concerning. The policy and procedures for NCOs can be found in the Undergraduate Student Handbook.

Police Reporting

Students are encouraged to file a police report and can speak to any of the Student Life contacts above for assistance, or directly contact the Newberg-Dundee Police Department at (503) 538-8321. A specially trained detective will assist individuals in filing an official report.

Medical Assistance and Forensic Evidence Preservation

Following a sexual assault, the most important concern is for the health, safety, and care of the survivor. As difficult as it can be, we strongly encourage students to seek medical assistance at the Providence Newberg Hospital Emergency Room (or at the nearest hospital) immediately following a sexual assault. A medical examination is vital for the health and well-being of the sexual assault survivor, and also will offer assistance to law enforcement if a report is made. A medical examination is an important element of obtaining evidence if a person desires to press charges.

To preserve forensic evidence, survivors should avoid washing, showering, bathing, douching, or altering the clothing worn during the assault. Examinations must be performed within 72 hours to collect evidence effectively. It is advised to bring a change of clothes or transport previously worn clothing in a paper bag.

Sex Offender Registration (Pages 11–17)

In accordance with the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act of 2000, which amends the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act, the Jeanne Clery Act, and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), the George Fox University Campus Public Safety Office provides a direct link to the Oregon State Police Sex Offender Registry.

This act requires institutions of higher education to issue a statement advising the campus community where law enforcement information provided by a State concerning registered sex offenders may be obtained. It also requires sex offenders already required to register in a State to provide notice of each institution of higher education in that State at which the person is employed, carries a vocation, or is a student. In the State of Oregon, convicted sex offenders must register with the Oregon State Police Sex Offender Registration Unit.

Conditions of Use Statement

ORS 181.592 authorizes the Oregon State Police to make information about registered sex offenders available to the public. ORS 181.592(4)(c) authorizes the release of information on certain sex offenders to be posted on a public website.

This site is for information only. The Oregon State Police has not considered or assessed the specific risk that any convicted sex offender displayed on this website will commit another offense or the nature of any future crimes that may be committed. The law mandates Oregon State Police provide information listing the name, address, and descriptions of the offenders who MAY pose a risk to the community. This information is NOT a "Wanted Bulletin" and is intended for ADVISORY PURPOSES ONLY.

The Oregon State Police Sex Offender Registration Unit updates this information regularly, making every effort at accuracy. However, this information can change quickly. Anyone who uses this information to commit a criminal act against another person is subject to criminal prosecution and/or civil action.

- Registry Thresholds: Information is only provided for sex offenders who have been designated as Predatory, as provided in ORS 181.585, who have also been determined to present the highest risk of reoffending and to require the widest range of notification, or found to be a sexually violent dangerous offender under ORS 144.635.
- Reporting Address Discrepancies: If you have knowledge that a registrant is not residing at the last reported residence listed on this website, you are encouraged to contact law enforcement.

Stop Campus Hazing Act Policy (Pages 17–19)

Purpose

The purpose of this Anti-Hazing Policy is to prohibit hazing in all forms, ensure compliance with the Stop Campus Hazing Act (SCHA) amendments to the Clery Act, and promote a safe and respectful campus environment. Hazing undermines the integrity of student life, endangers individuals, and is inconsistent with the mission, vision, and values of George Fox University.

Scope and Applicability

This policy applies to students, faculty, staff, administrators, trustees, recognized organizations/groups, established groups, student organizations and clubs, unrecognized groups, and third parties on or off-campus (including online), including visitors, alumni, guests, and the agents, representatives, and employees of suppliers and vendors. The University's prohibition on hazing extends to all aspects of its educational programs and activities, including, but not limited to, admissions, employment, academics, athletics, and student life. This policy is written to follow the requirements of all applicable federal and state laws. If this policy is inconsistent with those laws, or the laws change before it has been updated, state and federal law supersede this policy. If any provision of this policy is found to be invalid, illegal, unconstitutional, or unenforceable, that finding shall not affect or undermine the validity of any other provision.

Prohibited Behaviors and Legal Definitions

There is to be no behavior that causes, or is likely to cause, bodily danger or physical harm, or mental or emotional harm, regardless of a person's willingness to participate. Even if a participant claims that no one was forced to partake, such an activity or behavior is still considered hazing. Groupthink behavior, peer pressure, and coercion often play a role. Specifically, please note the following:

- Activity that may cause bodily danger or physical harm includes physical activity such as (but not limited to) forced calisthenics or exposure to the elements, sleep deprivation, or confinement. It also includes the forced consumption or application of food, liquid, alcohol, or harmful substances.
- Mental or emotional harm includes embarrassment, ridicule, verbal abuse, and personal humiliation.
- Rules Compliance: No activities are allowed that induce, cause, or require students to violate local, state, or federal law or campus rules and regulations.
- Induction Limits: Only currently enrolled George Fox students may be involved in University-approved team or group-induction activities, unless they are given explicit permission to include others by their group advisor, coach, or instructor.

The anti-hazing policy follows the process for reporting, interim measures, investigations, outcomes and findings, appeals, and retaliation as outlined in the Community Accountability section of the student handbook.

Reporting and Disclosures

Any person may disclose hazing by contacting the Student Life Office, whether in person or in writing. For evening and weekend reporting, please contact Campus Public Safety. The disclosing person does not need to be the harmed person and/or a Complainant. All disclosures will be reviewed by the University to identify if the conduct falls within this policy or other related policies.

An individual may pursue a University response procedure independently of any off-campus processes, such as reporting to law enforcement or pursuing other non-campus-based civil reporting options. The University reserves the right to initiate this process even if law enforcement has declined to do so.

The University Health and Counseling Center staff (in the context of providing medical care) and University Campus Pastors are all confidential resources on campus. Note: Mental health professionals may be required to disclose information where there is an imminent threat of a person harming themselves or others.

- Anonymous Reporting: The University is committed to reviewing all reports of hazing. Anonymous reports are accepted; however, the University's ability to obtain additional information may be compromised, and the ability to investigate anonymous reports may be limited.
- False Reports: The University does not tolerate intentional false reporting of incidents. It is a violation of University policies to make an intentionally false report of any policy violation, and it may also violate state criminal statutes and civil defamation laws. A person may be referred to the appropriate campus process if found to have intentionally made a false report or knowingly submitted falsified materials.

- Additional Policy Violations: In certain cases, conduct by an individual or group respondent may violate other policies. In those cases, the Student Life Office will select which office or individual has primary responsibility over a matter and how that individual will engage with other responsible offices. Examples include a hazing incident that also includes sexual and interpersonal violence or harassment, which may involve Title IX, Student Handbook policies, and Residence Life policies. Matters may be consolidated and investigated/adjudicated together at the discretion of the University.
 - Financial and Disciplinary Accountability: Violation of the hazing policy may also be a violation of Federal law or Oregon state law, which may result in a student's loss of financial aid. Any group/club/team member violating these standards risks suspension from group/team activities. Consequences may also involve sanctions for the entire group.

Emergency Response and Evacuation Policy (Pages 20–21)

The University's Emergency Response Plan includes information about Incident Teams, University operating status parameters, incident priorities and performance expectations, shelter-in-place and evacuation guidelines, and local contingency and continuity planning requirements. University Departments are responsible for developing contingency plans and continuity of operations plans for their staff and areas of responsibility. The University conducts numerous emergency response exercises each year, such as tabletop exercises, field exercises, and tests of the emergency notification systems on campus. These tests are designed to assess and evaluate the emergency plans and capabilities of the institution.

Emergency Response Procedures

George Fox University has developed an Emergency Response Plan in our efforts to prepare for emergency situations occurring on campus. The procedures included in this plan are tested at least once per year. These tests are designed to identify weaknesses and to make improvements to the various procedures. Following the test, participants evaluate the effectiveness of the plan, determine if specific objects of the test were accomplished, and make recommendations for improvement.

GFU Department of Campus Public Safety officers have received training in Incident Command and Responding to Critical Incidents on Campus. When a serious incident occurs that causes an immediate threat to the campus, the first responders to the scene are usually GFU Public Safety, NPD, and the Newberg Fire and Emergency Medical Services Department (NFD), and they typically respond and work together to manage the incident. Depending on the nature of the incident, other GFU departments and other local or federal agencies could also be involved in responding to the incident.

- Examples of emergencies that would result in immediate notification: Outbreak of meningitis, norovirus, or other serious illness; approaching tornado or other extreme weather; earthquake; gas leak; terrorist attack; armed intruder; bomb threat; civil unrest or rioting; explosion; nearby chemical or hazardous waste spill.
- Examples of situations that would not necessitate an emergency notification: Power outage; snow closure; string of larcenies.

GFU's response to these situations would be determined on a case-by-case basis. General information about the emergency response and evacuation procedures for GFU are published each year as part of the institution's Clery Act compliance efforts, and that information is available on the GFU Campus Public Safety website. Detailed information about and updates to the GFU Emergency Response Plan are hosted via the online Newberg Campus Emergency Response Plan database. A printed version of the response plan is kept at the Department of Campus Public Safety office at 212 Carlton Way at the main Newberg Campus.

Emergency Evacuation Procedures (Pages 21–23)

An evacuation drill is coordinated by GFU Campus Public Safety and Residence Life each semester for all residential facilities on campus. A second drill may be coordinated each semester for some Residence Halls based upon results of the first drill. Thus, the emergency response and evacuation procedures are tested at least twice each year and, for some of the buildings, four times a year. Students learn the locations of the emergency exits in the buildings and are provided guidance about the direction they should travel when exiting each facility for a short-term building evacuation.

The University does not tell residents in advance about the designated locations for long-term evacuations because those decisions are affected by time of day, location of the building being evacuated, the availability of the various designated emergency gathering locations on campus, and other factors such as the location and nature of the threat. In both cases, GFU Public Safety and University Residence Life staff on the scene will communicate information to students regarding the developing situation or any evacuation status changes. The purpose of evacuation drills is to prepare building occupants for an organized evacuation in case of fire or other emergency. At GFU, evacuation drills are used as a way to educate and train occupants on fire safety issues specific to their building. During the drill, occupants "practice" drill procedures and familiarize themselves with the location of exits and the sound of the fire alarm.

A debrief of the drill takes place with all residents prior to re-entering a facility immediately after an evacuation drill. In addition to educating the occupants of each building about the evacuation procedures during the drills, the process also provides the University with an opportunity to test the operation of fire alarm system components.

Evacuation drills are monitored by GFU Campus Public Safety, Residence Life staff, and when available members of the Tualatin Valley Fire and Rescue, to evaluate egress and behavioral patterns. Reports are prepared by participating departments which identify deficient equipment so that repairs can be made immediately. Recommendations for improvements are also submitted to the appropriate departments/offices for consideration.

Students receive information about evacuation and shelter-in-place procedures during their first floor meetings and during other educational sessions that they can participate in throughout the year. The Residence Life Staff members are trained in these procedures as well and act as an ongoing resource for the students living in residential facilities.

Shelter-in-Place Procedures—What it means to "Shelter-in-Place"

If an incident occurs and the buildings or areas around you become unstable, or if the air outdoors becomes dangerous due to toxic or irritating substances, it is usually safer to stay indoors, because leaving the area may expose you to that danger. Thus, to "shelter-in-place" means to make a shelter of the building that you are in, and with a few adjustments this location can be made even safer and more comfortable until it is safe to go outside.

Basic "Shelter-in-Place" Guidance

If an incident occurs and the building you are in is not damaged, stay inside—seeking an interior room—until you are told it is safe to come out. If your building is damaged, take your personal belongings (purse, wallet, University ID card, etc.) and follow the evacuation procedures for your building (close your door, proceed to the nearest exit, and use the stairs instead of the elevators). Once you have evacuated, seek shelter at the nearest designated University building quickly. If police or fire department personnel are on the scene, follow their directions.

How You Will Know to "Shelter-in-Place"

A shelter-in-place notification may come from several sources, including the university emergency notification system FoxAlert, GFU Public Safety, Residence Life Staff, other University employees, the Newberg-Dundee Police, Tualatin Valley Fire, or other authorities utilizing the University's emergency communications tools.

How to "Shelter-in-Place"

No matter where you are, the basic steps of shelter-in-place will generally remain the same. Should the need ever arise, follow these steps, unless instructed otherwise by local emergency personnel:

1. If you are inside, stay where you are. Collect any emergency shelter-in-place supplies and a telephone to be used in case of emergency. If you are outdoors, proceed into the closest designated building quickly or follow instructions from emergency personnel on the scene.
 2. Locate a room to shelter inside. It should be an interior room, above ground level, and without windows or with the least number of windows. If there is a large group of people inside a particular building, several rooms may be necessary.
 3. Shut and lock all windows (tighter seal) and close exterior doors.
 4. Turn off air conditioners, heaters, and fans.
 5. Close vents to ventilation systems as you are able. (University staff will turn off ventilation as quickly as possible.)
 6. Make a list of the people with you and ask someone (House Staff, faculty, or other staff) to call the list in to GFU Campus Public safety (503-554-2090) so they know where you are sheltering. If only students are present, one of the students should call in the list.
 7. Turn on a radio or TV and listen for further instructions.
 8. Make yourself comfortable.

Emergency Notification to the Community (Pages 24–25)

There may be rare occasions during an emergency situation when it is necessary to attempt to contact the entire University community in a timely manner. Emergency notification will be initiated by the office of the vice president of student life in most situations (with the Director of Campus Public Safety or Dean of community life as a backup). The primary means of communication for George Fox University consists of the following:

- Telephone System
- Campus Email System
- SMS Text Message (to cellular phone numbers provided by students as an emergency contact) using the Rave alert emergency alert system known as "FoxAlert"
- "Runners"

In addition to the above strategies, the following communication procedures will be initiated as necessary:

- Notification of and Instructions for Building Monitors
 - Notification of and Instructions for Associate Dean, Area Coordinators, and Resident Assistants
 - Notification of and Instructions for Administrative Assistants
 - Emergency Alert on University Website: In case of a regional emergency that shuts down the George Fox University website, the remote website is <http://georgefox.info> and it will convey critical information to the GFU community.
 - Call-in for Recorded Announcements: (503) 554-EVNT

Missing Student Notification (Pages 25–26)

Because the safety and well-being of students is paramount, necessary steps will be taken when a student is believed to be missing. A student may be considered missing if he/she is:

- Unreachable in person, by telephone (talking or text messaging), email, or other forms of electronic communication for 24 hours or more.
- Overdue in reaching a specified destination more than 24 hours past their expected arrival.
- If additional factors lead University staff to believe he or she is missing.

In these circumstances, an immediate investigation will be conducted and an intentional effort will be made to locate the student in question. If you believe a student is missing, please contact the Student Life Office or Campus Public Safety immediately. If the student lives on-campus, an Area Coordinator or the Associate Dean of Students/Director of Residence Life may also be contacted. The Dean of Community Life or Director of Campus Public Safety may also be contacted if the missing student is a commuter.

If it is determined that the student is missing, University officials will immediately notify the following:

1. The designated emergency contact in MyGFU or, for students living on-campus, the emergency contact information collected by his/her RA may also be used (if available).
2. The student's parent or legal guardian if that individual is not the designated emergency contact, and the student is under 18 years of age and not an emancipated individual.
3. The Newberg Police Department. They will be given appropriate information gathered by University officials, even if the student has not registered an emergency contact person.

Only authorized campus officials and law enforcement officers may have access to this information in a missing person investigation. When a missing person is located, student life personnel may determine the student's state of health and intention of returning to campus. When appropriate, a referral may be made to the University Health & Counseling Center. Students are strongly encouraged to periodically review and update their emergency contact information in MyGFU.

Emergency Telephone Numbers & Resource Index (Pages 27–29)

The on-campus emergency number, 911, directly connects any campus telephone with the consolidated dispatch center for Yamhill County. 911 should be used when there is an emergency requiring a police, fire, or medical response either on or off campus. In non-emergency situations requiring a police, fire, or medical response, the Newberg non-emergency line should be contacted by dialing (503) 538-8321. This number is also published in the local telephone directory and posted on Emergency Procedures postings throughout the campus. The Department of Campus Public Safety business number is (503) 554-2090. The number for Parking Services is the same: (503) 554-2090. Outdoor emergency telephones are located at the entrances to each residence hall. "Blue-light" emergency telephones are installed in or adjacent to many parking lots and walking paths throughout the campus. Each phone has an emergency button and a two-way speaker that directly connects to emergency dispatch and an info button that connects you to the officer on duty.

Prevent and Report Crime

The key to a safe university begins with everyone educating themselves, taking precautions, and becoming aware of prevention methods. At George Fox, Campus Public Safety, staff, faculty, and students continue to work together and take responsibility for their own safety and are ready to assist others in a time of need. This strategy is effective and it works. When crimes occur on campus, we want the university community to be aware so they can take precautions and avoid being a victim.

Most incidents on campus can be avoided if we recognize we are potential victims and take basic precautions such as walking in pairs when out at night or high-risk periods, locking offices and car doors, and not leaving personal valuables unattended. Campus Public Safety is always available to meet with individuals, groups, clubs, etc., to discuss safety, crime-prevention methods, and related issues.

George Fox University encourages the reporting of all crimes you witness or have information about, even minor crimes, incidents, and/or suspicious activity. It is your observation and willingness to help that make a difference. Campus Public Safety views a false alarm as much more valuable than missing a real crime because someone didn't think it was important to report.

WE NEED YOUR HELP. If we don't know or aren't informed about crime, we can't inform the university community and shift our resources and/or patrols to high-risk areas. If you have information or questions, call Campus Public Safety at 503-554-2090.

- Emergency Reporting: There is no charge to dial 911 from any cell phone or campus line.
- Suspicious Activity Tracking: Report anomalies 24/7 by calling campus extension 2090.
- Emergency Phones/Blue Lights: Call boxes are functional in the Fulton Street/LaShana lot, the Ross-Bauman parking lots, Canyon Commons North entry, and the Canyon Fire Pavilion.

Structural Verification Protocols

- Building Safety Rules: Unauthorized entry to, or use of, the university facilities, including buildings and grounds, is prohibited. Each building on campus property has a designated building monitor. Use of any building and/or access for special use during non-business hours requires the building monitor's approval.
- Proprietary Key Rules: Members of the university community are issued, through Plant Services, keys to help access their place of business on campus. If an issued key is lost, misplaced, or stolen, you are required to report it to Campus Public Safety (ext. 2090) and Plant Services (ext. 2010) immediately. University keys may not be duplicated, transferred, or loaned to others.

- Solicitor Rules: Report solicitors in the residence halls to Campus Public Safety (ext. 2090) immediately. Do not confront the person.
 - Weapons Restrictions: Possession, use, or threatened use of firearms, fireworks, ammunition, explosives, chemicals, or any other objects as weapons on university property or at university-sponsored or supervised activities, except as expressly authorized by law or university regulation, are prohibited. Professional law enforcement officers are the only persons permitted to possess firearms while on campus. Concealed weapons are prohibited.

Alcohol, Drugs, and Tobacco Policies (Pages 30–32)

George Fox University is committed to maintaining a safe and healthy educational environment free from alcohol, drugs, and tobacco. The use, possession, or distribution of alcoholic beverages and illicit drugs, including marijuana, synthetic marijuana, or controlled substances, or the abuse of legal substances, are prohibited on or away from campus. Marijuana prescribed for medical use, also known as medical marijuana, is prohibited regardless of any state's laws permitting marijuana to be used for medicinal purposes. The university prohibits smoking, including e-cigarettes/vapor cigarettes, and all forms of tobacco use or possession everywhere on-campus, as well as off-campus by students. Visitors to our campus are expected to comply with these standards.

Responding to Alcohol Incidents

There may be situations where a student's actions, words, behavior, and/or other contributing factors (such as the smell of alcohol on their person or breath) are consistent with a person who has consumed alcohol, but he/she denies drinking when confronted. In these instances, if two or more student life personnel have sufficient reason to believe a student has consumed alcohol, the student may be held accountable for violating the lifestyle standards unless they can demonstrate they have not consumed alcohol.

This may be accomplished by the student requesting to take a voluntary breathalyzer test, or being presented with the option of taking the test by student life personnel, in order to prove their assertion. If she/he chooses to not take the test, the student may be held accountable for drinking alcohol based on the original evidence that prompted the confrontation.

A breathalyzer test may only be administered when the student has requested to do so or has agreed to take it when presented with the option by student life personnel. A trained GFU CSO administers the test in a private setting with another student life member present. In instances where there is sufficient evidence that a student consumed alcohol, or when a breathalyzer test affirms a student was drinking, student life personnel ensures the student is accompanied by appropriate personnel to a safe place.

Clery Act Reporting Methodology & Crime Definitions (Pages 33–37)

Geographical Tracking Areas

The information is divided into groups based upon the type of crime being reported and the areas where the incident occurred. For example, the main GFU campus is divided as follows:

- On Campus: This includes all buildings, facilities, streets, parks, and other areas; but not residence halls.
- Residence Halls: A subset tracking internal student housing structures.

- Non-Campus: This area includes buildings, facilities, research areas, etc. that are near campus and are either owned or controlled by the University, such as rented classrooms and other administrative facilities used for student activities.
- Public Property: This area includes public streets that run through the campus or form the immediate border of the campus footprint.

Hierarchy Rule

When we examine incidents to determine if they should be included in the annual report, a portion of the Clery Act called the Hierarchy Rule comes into effect. Occasionally, a person who is arrested may have committed more than a single offense. The Hierarchy Rule requires in this situation that we count the offense which is of the most serious nature and not count an offense of lesser significance.

An exception to this rule exists for hate crimes. If a person commits any reportable offense and while doing this also commits a hate crime, then both incidents will be reported.

Campus Security Authority (CSA)

The incident must be reported to law enforcement or a person who, according to the Clery Act, is defined as a Campus Security Authority. The term is applied to any person who works for the University in a paid or volunteer status and has significant responsibility for student activities, such as professors, student advisors, resident assistants, and athletic coaches.
