I understand that my child will be learning in a research-based environment. As a result, students will participate in learning conversations around their work and may have their picture or video taken as part of the learning process (in-person camps only). My child may be interviewed to support teachers' understanding of their learning, and this information (along with pictures/video) may be used for research presentation and publication purposes. All data will be thoughtfully protected; children's real names will not be used in association with their images. By initialing below, I give permission for pictures and/or video to be taken that will support the learning and research process. I understand that if I do not wish to give permission, my child can still participate in camp, but s/he will not be recorded. If I have questions, I can email the Oregon Writing Project Collaborative at owpcollaborative@georgefox.edu.
